Swing Street, big treat

ACHS will transform school gym into swingin' cafe

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Swing Street Cafe '98 brings the best alto saxophone player in the State of Illinois to its musical presentations this year.

All they had to do was push senior student Mike Garippo up front. The Illinois Music Educators Association recently said he is the best in the state.

For two nights, the south gymnasium of Antioch Community High School will be transformed into a swinging cafe to feature all the music the students at the school play. The cafe doors open at 7 p.m. and the music starts at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, March 13 and Saturday, March 14. Tickets are available only at the door.

Garippo is in the marching band, plays lead alto saxophone in the 'A' Jazz Ensemble, and first chair alto saxophone in the school's Wind Ensemble.

Swing Street Cafe '98 may be one of the best opportunities to catch him playing with all the school's other musicians and singers. The Antioch Community High School Fine Arts Department will showcase the Jazz Ensembles, Concert and Symphonic Bands, along with soloists, Madrigal Choirs, and theater members.

Tickets are $6 for adults, $3 for students, and free for children under 5. The funds raised from ticket sales and food sales will be used for the instrumental music program at Antioch Community High School.

For parents who bring their five year old children, they can contemplate the fact that saxophone player Garippo started to play when he was ten or eleven.

"My brother (Bob) played it, and he taught me, at first, how to play," said Garippo. Garippo played in Niles' Gemini Junior High School music program.

"My junior high program was rated best in the country," he said. That gave him good teachers at school and he studied with a private musician, Tony Vacca. Now, Garippo teaches himself.

Vacca said of Garippo, "He is excellent. I can't say enough good things about him."

Vacca notes the origins of Mike Garippo's excellence in fundamentals and family.

"His older brother is an excellent player too," Vacca said. He said that Mike Garippo has consistently worked hard at his musicianship.

Garippo knows the fundamentals of playing. "He knew the importance of that," Vacca said. It is a lot of hard work he said.

"Talent alone is not a guarantee you are going to make it."

"He plays like he's a much older and experienced person than he is," Vacca said. "He sounds like someone who is college level or older."

For Vacca, a critical ingredient of Garippo's playing is his comfort level with live performance playing. For a musician, performance with a live audience is critical.

"There is no substitute for playing with an audience," Vacca said. The audience helps a musician play better.

Garippo agrees. He has actively sought out live performances with existing groups and those he has played with.

"I used to play with a blues band," Garippo said. He plays with the area's Concert Band. He did a New Year's Eve gig at the Brasserie T in Northbrook. He has been a substitute player in Jazz Wave, a big band out of Kenosha.

"I think the playing experience has been an important part of being at high school," he said. Without live playing for an audience, players do not acquire their performance skills.

"You have to know how to cover yourself, how to act on stage," he said. There is an etiquette to being on stage. Musicians need to know how to cope with people who ask for music they can not play. They need to

ACHS Career Club inducts first members

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Chapter of the Illinois Career Association inducted members and officers for the first time Friday, Feb. 27 at Antioch Community High School.

Principal Dr. Jim Love delivered a speech to the Chapter and invited guests.

Inducted officers included: President Lisa Marshall, Vice-President Sean Mason, Secretary Jessica Burdick, Treasurer Marc Miller, Reporter Brandy Roberts, and Historian Kevin Hennessy.

Love spoke about a student he had known at a previous school where he worked. Love said Sean Stevenson was a student who had been able to teach others, by his example, some important lessons which Love wanted to pass along.

"What Sean would say to us, I think, is 'make the most of the individual talents that you have and don't worry as much about your limitations,'" Love said.

"If we focus on the positive, focus on the things we can do and that we can achieve, we can all have lives that are extraordinary like Sean's."

Love noted that Sean was now in college and had been very active in school politics and creative video production.

The Antioch Chapter of the Illinois Career Association works with career counselors to obtain help with classwork and occupational skill services. The program prepares students for future jobs, according to Tammy Boldon, an ACHS Career Specialist.

Newly inducted officers took turns to describe four goals of the Antioch Chapter. The first is to promote leadership development through activities such as an overnight leadership camp. A second goal is to promote good citizenship, especially through participation in community volunteer activities.

A third goal is to promote social development skills. The fourth goal is to promote career preparation skills. Career skills are obtained through field trips, chapter activities that expand knowledge about the work place, job shadowing, weekly career

Political forum features 3 no show candidates

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Four candidates for the March 17 primary arrived Feb. 26 at Antioch Community High School to present their credentials to Chamber of Commerce and Industry members at a candidate's political forum.

Three did not.

Appearing before the Chamber to describe themselves and positions on issues were Gary P. Stryker, undersheriff, representing incumbent Gary Del Re, Sheriff candidate Willie Ray Smith, Legislative District 62 Representative candidate Timothy Osmond, and Lake County Board District 1 representative candidate Linda Pedersen.

Not appearing were State District 62 Representative candidate Paul Peterson, and Lake County Board District 1 representative candidate Michael Mortensen and District 1 incumbent Judy Martini.

Stryker said for Del Re, "He will continue to seek out new ways to work in harmony with others towards solving the wide range and difficult and ever changing problems that they all confront."

Del Re reminded the audience, through Stryker, of his program innovations such as the repeat offender strike force, the inmate work detail program, seasonal bike patrols, a renewed commitment to drug enforcement, and participation in the Lake County gang unit.

Del Re was recently endorsed by the Lake County Chiefs of Police Association, according to Stryker.

Willie Ray Smith said, "I believe I can make a difference in our neighborhoods and communities throughout Lake County."

Smith noted his more than 28 years of service with the county sheriff's department. He had served as chief of the narcotics division, chief of investigations, chief of operations, and served as undersheriff for six years.

"I don't want to see our community taken over by gangs. I don't want to see it taken over anymore by drugs. And, I think I can lead that fight along with the Lake County gang crimes unit."

CANDIDATES: Three politicians ditch political debate

Smith spoke of his plans to expand a program he helped put together that checks on home-bound senior citizens. He would like to bring the Crimestoppers program back into the Sheriff's department.

Tim Osmond spoke to the group only a few hours after reading that the Chicago Tribune had endorsed his candidacy.

"As a State Representative, I want to be open and available to all of the district," he said.

Osmond said that he really enjoyed his work as Antioch township supervisor. However, he said, "If elected, I will resign that position with regrets."

Although Osmond expressed doubt about stopping urban development growth, he also remembered when there was a stagnant economy in the area. He encouraged people to become involved in the development management process at the community level.

"I think we're going to have to manage growth a little bit," he said. "Don't be just aware of what's happening in your own back yard, but think about the whole community," he said.

Pedersen described her long career of volunteer work in Antioch. She is a founder of the Antioch Junior Women's Club, President of the Antioch Rotary Club, and is widely traveled throughout the state because of her work for the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"I would like to bring to this position, the quality of mind of fair representation for all the residents," she said.

Pedersen said, "I feel that Lake County and our community are rapidly changing. We need to work at maintaining a balance between growth and our historic rural charm. We need to meet it head on, planning wisely and gradually to create the balance."

She said, "I'm committed to seriously addressing the problems of traffic congestion, (and to) work at controlling development through professional planning and zoning while being environmentally responsible."

SWING: Sax player the best in the state

know how to manage hecklers.

The most important aspect, however, according to Garippo, is working with and communicating with other band members during a performance.

At home he has had strong support which he is quick to acknowledge. "My parents support me all the way," he said. Deborah and William Garippo have been providing him with mouthpieces and helping out with downstate trips, among other things. He said that brother Bob and sister Angela also are very important to him.

He plays one of two saxophones: a Selmer Mark VI and a Julius Kielwerth Alto Saxophone. "I've had my Selmer for six years." The other was a Christmas gift last year.

Pushed to name a favorite piece of music, Garippo cites Thelonious Monk's "Well You Needn't," and Sonny Rollins' "Oleo."

Garippo is an A student. He is expecting to head off to Northern Illinois University where he may take a double major in music performance and mathematics or accounting. He would like to be a professional musician.

"It's not an easy career," he said.

"Right now, I'm just doing school groups," Garippo said. "Playing with the band in school is good."

"I play to entertain. I want to play to please myself."

Friday and Saturday in mid-March may be a good time to see how he is doing with both goals.

speakers, and special training for Internet job searches.

Tammy Boldon spoke of her work with the students as they work to develop career skills, leadership, and participate in chapter activities.

"I'm extremely proud of my students," Boldon told the audience.

Upon installation of officers, chapter President Lisa Marshall spoke briefly. "I pledge the best efforts of our officer team," she said.

Members inducted include Michal Fassbinder, Jared Haugh, Ryan McMahon, Jennifer Piefer, Jim Flory, Trista Goracio, Jillian Litchford, Michael Morrissey, Brandon Polheber, and Robert Wido.

Jeff Schrader is a member from the Allendale Association.

Members from Gateway Foundation include Roderick Butler, Jesus Colon, Matt Qualman, Ciprian Garcia, Shaun Jackson, and Pat Pfeifer.

The Antioch Chapter of the Illinois Career Association is a part of the Jobs for Illinois Graduates program established in July, 1996.

Downtown plans postponed one year

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Plans to improve downtown sidewalks and install new light fixtures have been postponed by village officials for one year.

The decision follows a presentation of plans to property owners and merchants on Main and Lake Street in downtown Antioch on Feb. 9.

Instead, Antioch will construct the proposed project in February and March, 1999. Merchants and property owners were more comfortable with the revised time schedule.

"They figured it was a time period that would have the least amount of impact on business," said Community and Economic Development Director Claude LeMere.

"It was a very good meeting," said LeMere. "There was lots of good input from property owners and business people."

Antioch village officials planned to install new sidewalks and make other business district improvement this Spring. Merchants unanimously agreed that they wanted downtown improvements to the east side of the downtown business district in place before sidewalks and roads were torn up in the business district.

The Village instead will focus on completion of the William E. Brook Memorial Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center.

Village Engineer John Boldt made the presentation about the project to downtown property owners and merchants. Mayor Marilyn Shineflug, Village Administrator Tim Wells, and LeMere were available to answer questions.

Emmons to remain local polling place

Emmons School will serve as a polling place as it has been used in the past. Voters who vote there may continue to do so.

County Clerk Willard R. Helander said that she was delighted that School Superintendent Matt Tabor had made sure that voters would not be disrupted.

"He's bent over backwards," she said. "He's worked it out."

Helander said that she expects future proposed changes to voting places to be handled in a different manner. Past policy has been to notify voters of polling place changes close to the election.

"In the future, we'll send two letters," Helander said.

One letter will be sent after a decision has been made to change a voting location. A second letter will be sent to voters closer to the election to remind them of the change.

Concern was expressed by some election participants about a letter that District One County Board member Judy Martini circulated to notify people of a proposed change in the traditional Emmons School location.

Lakeland editor grilled by Petty School students

Antioch Chapter 387 of the American Association of Retired People will host a social gathering at 10 a.m. March 10 at the Senior Citizen Center on Holbeck. President Sharon Nowak said, "Please come and join us. We need some new faces and friends." Lunch is at noon and the meeting starts at 1 p.m. Card playing and bingo will follow. They meet at the Senior Citizen Center next to the fire station. Call Nowak for more information at 847-395-5068.

Do not forget that the Antioch Junior Women's Club 2nd Annual Comedy Night is Saturday, March 7 at 7 p.m. at the St. Peter's Catholic Church Father Hanley Center. Call Karen Kubin at 395-3111 for information. And, the Antioch Woman's Club meets at 1 p.m. at the Methodist Church on March 11 for a program that features Suzanne Hales doing a dramatic book review. Call Mabel Lou Weber for details at 395-4210.

Here is an early warning about a good event coming up. The Antioch Library Friends will host their spring book sale Saturday, May 16 from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. People who wish to help the Antioch Library Friends are welcome to volunteer. Give Nancy Brown a call at 847-838-2332. For those who want to buy books sooner, there is a continual book sale at the library in a case opposite the circulation desk. Books are generally 50 cents to $1. White mugs with an Antioch Library Friends stacked book design are still on sale at Books Etc. in downtown Antioch and at the library for $5. The mugs hold liquid in a deft, intellectual manner.

Erika Elizabeth Boehm leaves Antioch for her Peace Corps assignment in Panama March 3. A graduate of Antioch Community High School, she has been in Madison obtaining a Bachelor of Science degree in International Agriculture, Natural Resources, and Plant Pathology. Her friends and family wish her great success. She will be on assignment for the Peace Corps for two years and three months.

Editor Rhonda Hetrick Burke spent a few hours at W. C. Petty School being interviewed by students Alyssa Casey and Melissa Cole. They are in Elaine Hoffman's fifth grade class. "She's doing a project where kids in pairs interview community leaders," Burke said. The videotaped interview lasted 12 minutes and covered her ideas of a perfect school, when she decided she wanted to be a newspaper editor, and obstacles to overcome to be an editor. "Then I had to speak to the class," Burke told them about personal qualities needed for leadership: having an open mind, being an active learner, listening to people one works with, and being prepared to make unpopular decisions. How did daughter Amy Vinzant cope with a parent in the classroom mingling with her friends? "I think she was surprised that others found me interesting," said the fascinating editor. "The kids asked very informed questions," Burke said.

The First National Bank-Emmployee Owned blood drive Feb. 28 was a success. "We doubled what we did at our blood drive last summer," said Karen Kubin. "We had 33 people come in to donate." She said that of those 33 candidate donors, 27 were eligible to donate. "So, 27 units were drawn which means that the blood drawn here at the bank will help 81 patients." For those who were unable to donate, Kubin said that there will be another blood drive in August.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4551 on North Avenue is a strong supporter of area cub scout packs. Al Himber said, "February was quite a busy month at VFW Sequoit Post 4551 in Antioch." They hosted four Blue and Gold Dinners for Packs 88, 93, 190, and 191. "These affairs are held yearly to present awards to the scouts for their achievements throughout the year," he said the post is proud to be able to help future leaders. "The VFW motto says it all," Himber said. "We honor the dead by helping the living."

CHOOSING A CHIROPRACTOR

Your shoulder assumed a new - and painful - relationship to the rest of your arm during your last tennis set, and you need a chiropractic adjustment to be able to enjoy the rest of your vacation. Using the Yellow Pages is not the best way to select a doctor, but how do you choose a chiropractor when you are away from home?

Most areas have a number of doctors of chiropractic who specialize in different techniques. All chiropractors are skilled professionals who are capable of dealing with your injury effectively, but some may meet your specific needs more than others. There are practitioners, for example, who specialize in sports injuries.

When you don't know the doctors in town, ask for referrals. Even the desk clerk at your hotel may be a valuable source of information. If you want to establish a relationship with a chiropractor where you live, ask your family and friends for recommendations. The doctor/patient relationship is an integral part of the healing process, so it is important to work with someone whom you like and respect.

If maintaining your health is important to you, call Round Lake Beach Chiropractic at 847-740-2800 to make an initial, no obligation consultation with Dr. Scott G. Reiser. Dr. Reiser has served the Lake and McHenry County area for over 10 years. Let his knowledge and experience serve you. Dr. Reiser's clinic is located at 314 Rollins Road, Round Lake Beach (Eagle Creek Plaza - corner of Cedar Lake and Rollins Roads.

Hannah's Home Accents built on Ben Franklin roots

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Ben Franklin Home Accents has change its name to Hannah's Home Accents.

"It's the same people behind the counter," said owner Don Marski. "We're not selling the business."

The name change is only one obvious sign of many new activities at the decades-long downtown Antioch business.

Over the past few years, owners Jane and Don Marski have added store merchandise and products to respond to customer demand and to anticipate trends.

"We're going in a different direction," Don Marski said of his new store. "I think this is going to open up a lot of new areas for us."

Hannah's Home Accents

The new signs for Hannah's Home Accents will be erected by Pete Garofalo of Galaxy Signs & Graphics on or about March 7. Hannah is a family name and was Jane Marski's grandmother. The store has also updated its website, www.hannahs.com, managed by Judith C. Kallos at istudio in Antioch.

Marski said that the Antioch Ben Franklin has not been a typical dime store for many years.

Changes will continue in the new store. "We're able to offer a lot more quality lines than we could before with the Ben Franklin name," he said.

Changes have taken the store away from the traditional products that Ben Franklin Stores have historically sold. "Competition forced us into this direction," he said. Wal-Mart and K-Mart had many of the same items Ben Franklin used to carry. Marski found that he could not compete on the basis of price.

The merchandise typical in many remaining Ben Franklin Stores is gone from the Antioch location at 455 Lake Street. The Marski's have increased the quality and importance of the craft and floral offerings. They have added a frame shop and an art print gallery. Collectibles and gifts have also been added. There is now a department in the store to sell scale models of many types including planes, trains, and automobiles.

Marski said that they consistently seek to offer higher quality merchandise in their store. "But, at the same time, we're sensitive to price."

"We're getting into some very good collectible lines of merchandise," he said. There are several that he expects to offer in coming months.

"We'll have limited-edition Disney animation cells. They're coming in April," he said by way of example.

Another recent addition to their store is the Make-a-Memory Department. People now want to preserve old photographs and family souvenirs. This area of interest is growing. "It is unbelievable," he said.

Marski has devoted 2,000 square feet to materials to help customers create scrapbooks and to preserve family memories in acid-free papers. "It's great for people who are creative," he said. They can preserve family heirlooms in a one-of-a-kind album that will last 300 years as it is passed from generation-to-generation. "Another area we're getting into is quilting," said Marski. He expects to offer classes, have supplies and materials available, and to have people with expertise to work with customers.

The changes over the years to create Hannah's Home Accents will end Marski's long association with the Ben Franklin name. "I've been personally involved with Ben Franklin since 1963," said Marski. "Ben Franklin has been in town since the 1950s."

Father, daughter dance is 'overwhelming' success

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Parks and Recreation Department sponsored its most successful dance ever for fathers and daughters on Feb. 21 in the Antioch Community High School Commons area.

This year's dance attracted twice the number of couples that attended last year.

"We never in our wildest dreams expected that," said Laurie Stahl, parks and recreation coordinator.

The evening attracted 740 people, a virtual doubling of the 384 people at last year's dance.

"I think the daughter's had a great time. They were out there dancing away," said Stahl. "A lot of dads said we did a great job."

Stahl said that as a result of the popularity of the dance, the parks and recreation department will find a larger facility for the dance next year. They will also seek to limit ticket sales in order to better plan food, film, and corsage availability for attendees.

"We can't plan an event when you don't know how many are coming," said Stahl. She said that supplies of corsages were exhausted, although there was plenty of food. The recreation department bought additional Polaroid® film through the evening to meet their needs but eventually ran out of decorative holders for the pictures.

"I'd like to thank all the dad's for their patience," she said. Many were sympathetic to the overwhelmed volunteers and the lines created by the unexpected turnout.

"We appreciate the help of the volunteers," she said. Students in the National Junior Honor Society never got a break from the lines. They were always at work, according to Stahl. Parks and recreation directors also worked to help give out food and corsages and worked to make the evening a successful event.

"What I really want to stress is that we appreciate all the patience the dad's had," she said. "We are going to work on finding a solution for it next year."

THE CLOSING

It is a week before you are supposed to close on your new home, and you are feeling completely organized about the move. You have arranged for the movers and the transfer of the telephone, electric, water, and gas accounts. Now you plan to take a few days off. Good!

Remember that closing dates are not set in stone. Lenders, appraisers, title attorneys, credit check services, and anyone else who is involved in the transactions can cause a delay in the closing. If you keep this in mind while you are making your arrangements, you can minimize the possible cost and inconveniences due to a delay.

As the closing approaches, your Realtor will stay on top of the situation and keep in touch with everyone involved in the transaction to prevent any unnecessary delays.

Diane wins sister of the year

Well it was by far one of the finest 40th Surprise Birthday parties known to man and the guest of honor was certainly caught off guard. Kim Pocrnich's sister, Diane, and hubby, Tom, threw her a birthday bash of all birthday bashes. The shock of the party itself took a toll on the birthday girl, but the fact that it was in her very own house and she had no clue, well that really knocked her for a loop. It's not like they moved all the food, decorations, beverages and people in right under her nose, she was out for dinner while everyone congregated there, but you would have thought the Marachie Band setting up in the basement that afternoon would have tipped her off.

After she finally finished hyperventilating over the initial shock, surprise number two for the evening appeared: a dear old friend from Colorado whom Kim hadn't seen in seven years—pass the paper bag over, please. Although nobody actually kept track of how many times the birthday girl, bent over, slapped her knees and said "Oh my God," her brother-in-law Jim certainly did the best impression of the birthday girl's gesture.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

Lynn Pringle

Surprise number three came during the gift giving portion of the evening. Among the Geritol, bunion pads and slinky lingerie came two airline tickets to Cancun compliments of Jesse and Chloe (Kim's dogs).

Shaking beyond control she knew they were airline tickets but she couldn't figure out where they were going. Tom finally stepped in and pointed out the destination—forget the paper bag, this time get the oxygen mask.

The highlight of the evening was a priceless Book of Memories put together by Kim's sister, Diane. All those near and dear to Kim were asked to submit a story, memory or picture about her. Diane took all those pieces of paper and collated them into one of the most precious memento's. She even managed to get Kim's hair stylist to save a few snips of hair to put in the book—guess the dentist was approached, and thank goodness for that. During the course of the evening Mrs. Fischer, Kim's mom, proved to be the source of Kim's good looks and goofy behavior. She kept us entertained, at times even outshining the birthday girl. With her weak heart, several of us were getting a little concerned, as our CPR skills are no longer accredited. And thanks to modern technology, it's all been captured on tape. The festivities continued on into the very wee hours of the morning and at 3 p.m. the following afternoon Tom stated that the house still resembled downtown Beirut. What's the matter birthday girl, could we not get up and clean up after the festivities?

Did you think Diane was going to come back and clean up for you too? A great time was had by all and this is believed to be the first time Kim has ever had a party at her own house where she hasn't gotten sick the day of or before the festivities. And now we are all just that more envious of Kim and the fairy tale life she leads.

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

ACHS offense slowed in finale

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

The high-flying Antioch offense was slowed for at least one game, the regular-season finale at Mundelein.

Mundelein won 55-43 as both teams tied for third place in the North Suburban Conference at 7-7.

Mundelein coach Perry Wilhelm credited his team's defense for slowing a team which had scored 75 points just two games earlier against Libertyville.

"Tony Nelson did a great job on Chris Groth, but it was also a team effort. Both teams played good defense—it was a playoff type game," said Wilhelm.

Groth scored 14 points, below his average for Antioch.

The Sequoits, seeded sixth, (16-10) faced Deerfield in the first round of the Waukegan sectional on Wednesday. The winner gets the Libertyville-Grant victor March 6 in the regional final at the highest seed.

Aaron Evans led the Mustangs attack with 22 points.

"He had a lot of pull-up jumpers and made free-throws in the fourth quarter," said Wilhelm. "We did a good job of converting when they had to foul," said Wilhelm.

MHS finished with a 21-6 advantage from the charity stripe.

Point guard Eric Levernier chipped in with 11.

"It was a big win to finish the regular season. But we are all 0-0 now heading into the post-season," said Wilhelm.

Antioch started strong, but a 19-11 Mundelein run enabled the Mustangs (16-10) to recover.

"Levernier is our floor leader and handles the ball well at all times. He is our emotional leader," said Wilhelm.

A lack of turnovers helped Mundelein in the Tuesday clash. MHS had lost earlier to NSC champ Zion-Benton 57-44.

Mundelein faced Carmel Tuesday in the first round of the Waukegan sectional. The winner faces the Lake Forest-Stevenson survivor in the regional final.

Sectional semifinals are March 10 and 11 at Waukegan High's East gym.

Ray, Zalapi go national to end wrestling season

Two wrestlers, both with a good chance at securing all-American status will cap their junior college seasons at the national meet representing College of Lake County.

Mike Ray and Steve Zalapi took different routes to the NJCAA meet Feb. 27-28. The meet did not work out as both had hoped as they lost two matches.

Zalapi missed the action of the mat last year and was a determined wrestler as he prepared for his season at 126 pounds.

"I would run five miles a day and lift weights," said Zalapi.

The former Sequoit was third at the NJCAA regional at Harper. Ray was runner-up at 142 pounds.

At regionals, Zalapi lost in the semifinals to Juan Martinez of Triton in a close 2-1 battle. He then bounced back with a fall over Lincoln's Greg Lehman in 2:20 for third.

"Steve is peaking. He has been working real hard and won seven of his last eight matches. I would like to see him place in the top eight in national," said CLC coach Stan Pasiewicz.

Pasiewicz said Zalapi, who is from Antioch, was focused since September on this year's goals.

"Steve has great balance and does not give up many takedowns," said Pasiewicz.

Ray finished fifth in the state tournament his senior year. He suffered disappointment in the early rounds of the state meet but bounced back. He used that experience to his advantage at the Harper meet.

After graduation, Ray had planned to attend West Point Military Academy. He continued his cross country running, but did not like the results in the classroom and came back to the area.

"I was rusty going up against guys with 30 matches experience. But I gave up a year of eligibility so I could have a chance at national. More of my wrestling is intellectual. I think a lot about my moves," said Ray.

Ray beat Edgar Lopez of Harper in his return to the mat 7-5 in overtime. He won over Joel Siau of Oakton in a fall in 2:25. Ray lost to Larry Evans of Triton 7-4 in the 142-pound finals. The two could very well meet again in the first round at Bismark.

CLC placed fourth of five teams at Harper. Finishing fourth were: Todd Costa of Wauconda at 118 pounds (4-8 overall); Jason Breen of Antioch at 134 (6-7); Paul Redman of Antioch at 158 (2-8); Issac Reyes of Waukegan (3-8) at 177 and Steve Hernandez of Waukegan (3-11) at heavyweight.

"Breen had a tough call in a 7-4 loss on an out-of-bounds call," said Pasiewicz.

At Bismark, Zalpi (12-8) lost 3-1 in his first match on a takedown in the final seconds. He lost another close match to a Muskegon, Mich. wrestler 5-2.

"He was disappointed he could not win a couple of more matches and be an all-American. He was really wrestling well," said Pasiewicz.

Ray (2-3) lost his first match to a Walworth, MN wrestler 4-3, his second 19-7.

"His heart and head were in it, but he just did not have the time," said Pasiewicz.

"But both of them gave a good effort," said Pasiewicz.

Bye-bye warm weather, it's softball season

Sequoits softball ready to take on NSC

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Wouldn't you know it.

The day after El Nino's warmth takes a siesta, softball practice starts.

"It started to snow today - right on schedule," said Antioch High coach Steve Wapon.

"We were such a senior dominated team last year, graduation really hurt. We have to replace five all-conference players," he added, noting his team's experience, relative to last year's squad.

The familiar names no longer on the Sequoits roster include: Jamie Silarski, Sarah Rockow (at College of Lake County) Angie Petersen, Stephanie Haensch and Laura Deusch. They were the main cogs in a 27-12 and co-North Suburban Conference champion season.

"We are really an inexperienced team this year. A lot will depend on how quickly we get experience and the NSC is always so tough," said Wapon.

Shannah Jaburek, Jenny Minor, Kristen Scopel and Melissa Bock all pitched in last year and are expected to be leaders this spring. Scopel is the top pitching candidate.

are back.

Juniors looking to leave their mark are: outfielder-pitcher Karen Lockhead; Dana Spandet and sophomore Kaellen O'Connell is another pitching hopeful.

"Scopel was No. 3 last year and did a credible job. She also has a strong bat," said Wapon.

ACHS has one of its earliest starts ever at new Prairie Ridge in Crystal Lake March 21. Cary-Grove visits March 25, followed by a game at Rockford Harlem before four games in 24 hours of Peoria March 27-28.

"It is an exciting group; it is so unpredictable," said Wapon hours before the first practice.

YMCA: safety, self-esteem

For parents, kids' safety is a primary concern, especially when there's an added risk factor. When kids don't know how to swim, water—whether it's a lake, a backyard pool, or somewhere else—is just such a factor. From March 30 to April 3 the Lake County Family YMCA will help lower the risk for 200 kids and set their parents' minds at ease through the YMCA Splash program.

"We nurture kids' healthy, successful development all year long through aquatics and other programs," said Brent Ewers of the YMCA. "We're running YMCA Splash out of concern for their safety. Plus, we've found that overcoming fears and learning to swim can have a fantastic effect on a child's self-esteem."

Drowning is the third leading cause of death for children under age 5. In 1993, there were 4,800 drowning deaths nationwide. "So many of these tragedies are preventable," said Ewers. "The YMCA has been teaching people to swim for over a century. This is a community need that we're well equipped to meet."

Registration for the Lake County Family YMCA Splash program will begin March 1st. Day and evening classes will be available. Classes will run for 30 minutes Monday to Friday for children ages 3 to 14. Cost of the week is $10 per child. To register, stop by the Lake County Family YMCA at 2000 Western Ave., Waukegan or for more information call the YMCA at 360-YMCA.

IN THE TRENCHES

JASON J. KING versus BRENDAN O'NEILL

Recently, Nykesha Sales of the University of Connecticut's women's basketball team suffered a season-ending injury (ruptured achilles tendon) in her second to last collegiate game, falling just one point short of the school's all-time scoring record. In the finale against Villanova, she was allowed to score, uncontested, due to an agreement between the opposing coaches, giving her 2,178 points for her career—setting the new school scoring mark.

A nice touch

Maybe if the men of this world would break free from the grip of testosterone which immobilizes their thought processes, the uproar over the Nykesha Sales incident could have been avoided.

Granted, Sales was given the record, I won't dispute that. I can also say, however, it was a record she deserved to have.

If the UConn star would not have been injured in the next to last game, there is no doubt that she would have eclipsed the record, by much more than one point as she did last week.

I submit to you, however, if Sales had played for a smaller school, say a division two or three school, there would be no debate on the matter. She would have broken the record, end of story.

Sales, however, was blessed with the talent to play for national powerhouse UConn. She was blessed with the opportunity to play on national television.

The national spotlight on Sales, this time, was not a blessing however. For this brief highlight of her career, it was a curse. Call it the curse of the male sportscaster or the male sports talk radio show host.

Why shouldn't she be rewarded with the chance to put her name in the history books after four years of leading her team to the upper echelon of the woman's collegiate basketball world?

Why not? Because in the male-dominated world of athletics, if it's not earned the hard way, you don't deserve it.

Rather than being the pinnacle of an outstanding career, the moment was reduced to fodder for a male-dominated debate.

Similar incidents in men's sports are well documented over the years, and I'm sure sparked nowhere near as much debate as this incident has.

Let Sales enjoy her record and get on with her life. In the long run, this debate will prove to be an exercise in futility anyway.

If you'd like to step into the trenches and discuss an issue with the sports editor, please call Brendan O'Neill at 223-8161 (ext. 132), or fax to 223-8810. Please include your name, phone number, and town in which you live.

Cheap shot

UConn's new scoring leader holds a bogus record. Nykesha Sales didn't earn first place, and the fact that she was given the school record cheapens the record, her accomplishments, the previous record holder's achievements, and UConn's women's program—especially coach Geno Auriemma's reputation.

Sure, Sales is a great player, a great scorer, and deserves to get the school scoring record if she can get it in a competitive game. But she got injured and couldn't compete. Those are the breaks of sports, and that's why we marvel at records like "all-time leading scorer in school history." Records like that require greatness over a long period of time, and also require a little luck to stay relatively injury free.

Kerry Bascom-Poloquin, the now former record-holder, had to play through pain, and play well, to earn that record. She also was lucky not to have come down with a serious injury during her career. That's why the record is great, and that is why it is cheapened when some coach orchestrates an elaborate scheme to guarantee that she gets the record.

Auriemma said it was a gift to her for all she has done for the program. But what if she was three point away from the record? Or five, or 11? Should we then just let the entire half tick down and let her score as many points as it takes to get the record?

Sales' record received the attention it did because she attends a big-time basketball school. Of course. But if she did it a small school you never heard of, it still doesn't make it right. That action was wrong, it proves the record to be bogus and weakens the integrity of the game.

You see how absurd and ridiculous this is. Sales earned second place in the UConn record books, and an unfortunate injury caused her to fall one point short of the previous record. She deserved what she earned, not what she was given.

Primarily, House seat candidate upsets GOP

Challenger Opposes Antioch Supervisor

By Susan Kuczka,
Tribune Staff Writer

Republican Paul Petersen has ticked off some GOP leaders in Lake County because he is running for the Illinois House seat being vacated by longtime Rep. Robert W. Churchill of Lake Villa.

Churchill, who is leaving to run for Illinois secretary of state has endorsed Antioch Township Supervisor Tim Osmond to succeed him.

GOP leaders would have preferred that Osmond have a clear field in the March 17 primary rather than face a challenge from one of their own.

No Democratic candidates filed for the primary in the 62nd House District, which includes Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, Wadsworth, Winthrop Harbor, Zion and parts of Waukegan.

"They're not very happy with me because I kind of messed up their parade," said Petersen, a Waukegan businessman and GOP committeeman.

"But the reason we have primaries is so voters have a chance to choose a candidate," he said. "If I hadn't gotten into this race, it would have been a slam dunk. I just felt that wasn't right."

So, Petersen, 57 is running a campaign on a shoestring and a prayer.

"I'm definitely the underdog, but hopefully I'll get a good turnout and support from local people that know me," he said.

Osmond, 48 an Antioch resident who operates an insurance agency in the northern Lake County town, also is hoping for a strong turnout.

It is likely he will get one, especially in Antioch Township where he was a trustee for eight years, before being elected Township Supervisor last year.

Besides holding township positions, Osmond was a member of the Antioch Rescue Squad the past 20 years and served as chief the last two years.

His friendship with Churchill who

...Osmond said that if an existing casino boat owner wanted to move a boat to Lake County, as has been discussed, he would support the move...

---

has held the House District 62 seat for 16 years, goes back several years.

Osmond's wife JoAnn Osmond has served as Churchill's Legislative Aide since he was elected to the General Assembly in 1983.

Though Osmond said he believes he shares the same views as Churchill on a number of issues, Petersen said he would offer an alternative.

"The thrust of my campaign will be portraying myself as an independent thinker who goes to Springfield with an open mind and with the best interest of people in mind, and not of one special-interest group," Petersen said.

Petersen, a sales and marketing executive for 30 years, said he also wants Waukegan to have better representation in Springfield.

"The City of Waukegan has some unique needs that are not the same as you would find in Libertyville or Wadsworth," said Petersen, who ran unsuccessfully for the Lake County Board six years ago.

Unlike Petersen, Osmond said he does not have an "agenda" that he intends to take to Springfield.

Osmond said he almost had to be persuaded to seek the Springfield post because he likes being township supervisor.

"We put in some new programs that I think will have some positive effects, so it was a tough decision," Osmond said, adding he plans to step down as supervisor if he wins election to the House seat. But he said he decided that he could have a greater impact on his community by seeking a more powerful position than township supervisor.

Osmond said that as a state representative, he would look to residents for input before voting on any controversial issues, such as the expansion of Riverboat Gambling.

Osmond said he opposes the expansion of gambling in Illinois. But Osmond said that if an existing casino boat owner wanted to move a boat to Lake County, as has been discussed, he would support the move as long as residents wanted it.

Petersen said he also is lukewarm about the possibility of casino gambling coming to Waukegan, which has been mentioned as a possible site for a riverboat. "I think the Lakefront is much too valuable a resource to turn over to gambling people," he said.

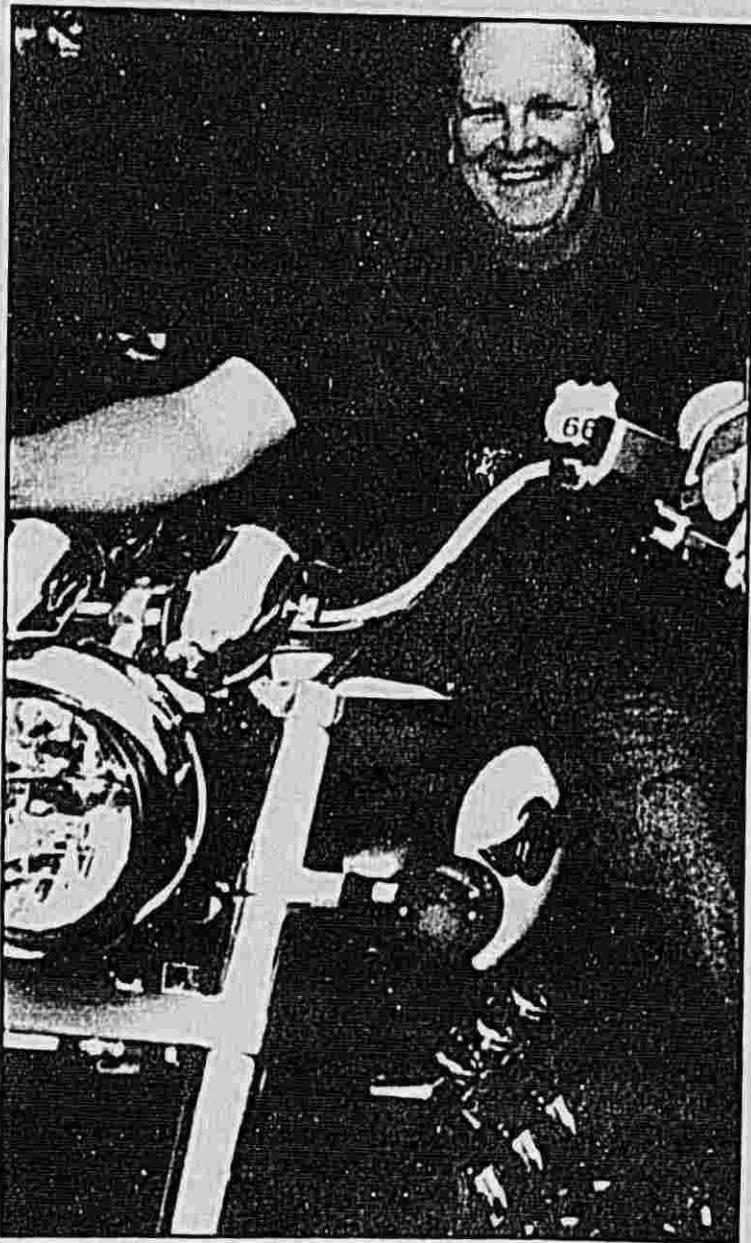

Petersen said he would try to find ways to cut spending by state government. "Who better to curtail spending than a newcomer?" Petersen said. "I don't have any big-money groups pushing me, so I don't have to vote their way."

Osmond, on the other hand, said he would bring some insight to Springfield on Insurance-related matters, such as managed health care, and other concerns faced by small business owners.

ELECT PAUL PETERSEN

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

March 17th, is the only chance that you will have to choose someone to stand up for you in the Illinois State Legislature.

This important seat has been occupied for the last sixteen years by one person who has accepted hundreds of thousands of dollars from Fat Cat lobbyists who have aided his climb to power. Now, he wants to move up the ladder and leave "his" seat to a longtime political protegee.

March 17th, is the day that we can all say NO to this arrogant political cronyism

Paul Petersen is the Independent Conservative Republican who offers voters a chance to break the hold that big corporate special interest groups have had on our legislative process.

FREEDOM ISN'T FREE

We must all take the time and make the effort to make our voices heard at the ballot box.

If we don't vote Tuesday, the other guys win by default. We can then expect to hear the downstate limousine riding Fat Cats, laughing at us dumb hicks up in Northeastern Lake County for staying home on election day.

If we let that happen, then we deserve to be represented by the "best politician that money can buy".

Vote for PAUL PETERSEN the only true

Independent Conservative Republican

When we win on March 17th, I'll be proud to tell the other ten million citizens of Illinois that Paul Petersen represents the common man and women of Northeastern Illinois and will remain-for as long as you want me to represent you in the State of Illinois Legislature.

Unbought and Unbossed

Thank you

District Sixty Two Times

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ News for the Informed Lake County Voter ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

City Club Talk

Let me start by saying that any registered voter who is willing to subject himself and his family to ridicule and humiliation is certainly qualified to run for any public office.

When I left the house every morning last October to go door to door to introduce myself to the voters in the 62nd district I opened myself up to rejection and criticism of my firmly held conservative beliefs.

Fortunately for me, I met more people that believe as I do, - that America needs to get back to the common sense ideals of self reliance and taking a more active role in securing their own independence and happiness.

My campaign issue is very simple: "as a new face in the legislature, my vote for passage of any new legislation will mean that I have read and understood the legislation and believe that the majority of the citizens of the 62nd district want that legislation to be enacted."

Government was never supposed to be in the business of providing food, shelter, clothing and health care for all of its citizens. Somehow though, too many elected officials began promising so many benefits to people who really don't need them, that today, we have millions of people addicted to government programs.

Now don't get me wrong here. People who truly need assistance should be given everything they need until they can gain their financial Independence. But, there should also be limit on the time that able-bodied citizens can expect to live off of their hard working neighbors.

One of the many motivations for my running for the General Assembly is the way heavy handed political leaders force stupid laws on all of us just so they can boast that they passed a law to protect us from ourselves.

We have a whole generation of young people who think that common sense is something that our ancestors used to scrape by with while they were crossing the great plains of America on their way to settle in California. For too many years, lawmakers have taken over too many responsibilities of life's everyday activities.

For Example:

Parents no longer have to be smart enough to place the aspirin bottle back on the high shelf in the medicine cabinet, because we now have child proof aspirin bottles that are almost impossible to open for anyone with arthritis let alone a small toddler.

Drivers are no longer smart enough to decide for themselves that if a light rain is falling at high noon, and even if the sun is still quite bright, they must now have their headlights on or subject themselves to police arrest and a hefty fine.

Automatic air bags were forced upon us at a very high cost, and we now learn that in some cases they have killed the very people that they were supposed to protect.

Every night the TV news people try to show us a new crisis to watch out for, and by the next morning you can be sure that at least one of our overpaid lawmakers will hold a news conference to tell us that he or she is introducing a new law that will protect us from this latest menace.

We have so many laws on the books now, that in many cities entry level police officers are required to have a college degree and a commitment to further law studies in order to be hired.

We as a society need to get back to the basics. Basic laws that were set in stone thousands of years ago go unenforced yet arrogant lawmakers feel the need to define minutia as the most important activity of the legislature.

Imagine the quality of life that we would all enjoy if only half of the original 10 laws were adhered to by everyone.

Most of us here remember them, but in case some youngsters may not have heard them because they are no longer taught in school, here they are:

- #5 Honor your father and your mother
- #6 You shall not kill anyone
- #7 You shall not commit adultery
- #8 You shall not steal anything
- #9 You shall not lie
- #10 You shall not covet your neighbors property

If we actively enforced the "you shall not kill anyone" law to the fullest extent of the law, we wouldn't have to spend so much time discussing the size, shape and number of bullets that a gun fires or even to determine if we should be allowed to have a gun at all.

I know that this is being viewed as an oversimplification, but sometimes everyone needs to take a step back and look at what we have done to ourselves in order to decide a proper course of action for the future.

My campaign message is very simple: "as a new face in the legislature, my vote for passage of any new legislation will mean that I have read and understood the legislation and believe that the majority of the citizens of the 62nd district want that legislation to be enacted."

This being said, it means that party floor leaders will not be able to keep bills bottled up in committee for months and months then rush them to the floor for quick passage and be able to expect my favorable vote.

Last years education bill is a perfect example of what is wrong with "Rubber Stamp Puppet" legislators playing cat and mouse all year long on important issues, and then rushing to put together a patchwork of consumer tax increases to pay a few selected school districts a one time windfall payment during an election year. Smokers, casino patrons, and telephone users were not asked if they wanted to send millions of dollars of their hard earned money to specially selected school districts. We had no choice in the matter because Governor Edgar and bosses from both party's struck a "deal". Since this is only a temporary fix, the new legislature will have to start all over again to find a real solution to Illinois school funding.

The 1997 Education Bill is an abomination that no Illinois lawmaker can be proud of.

Voters who have a chance to make their collective voices heard March 17th should throw them all out of the office by voting for candidates who have the backbone to say no to any more taxes.

In the 62nd District I am the candidate with a real backbone and the willingness to say No No to party bosses who want to make deals to restrict our freedoms and take some more of our hard earned money.

Paul Petersen is not bought by special interest lobbyists.

Paul Petersen is not endorsed and therefore not bossed by Republican Party leaders.

Therefore, Paul Petersen is your best choice for State Representative.

Thank you - Paul Petersen

Follow the Money

"Follow the Money" is an old admonition to enable us to get at the real truth of a matter, and it is especially true today.

In little more than the past two years, your Illinois State Representative has received over a Half Million Dollars in Campaign Contributions! The disturbing thing is, that of that huge amount of money, less than fifteen thousand dollars came from within District 62...about 3%.

Now really, it shouldn't take that kind of money to communicate with us voters. Should it? Especially when there has been little or no opposition at election time.

Paul Petersen's opponent for State Representative has been The Honorable Robert Churchill's loyal friend and campaign fund raiser for many years. His wife has served as

The disturbing thing is, that of that huge amount, less than fifteen thousand dollars came from within District 62... about 3%.

Churchill's Legislative Aid for many years as well. It's not rocket science to understand that since Tim and JoAnn Osmond "ran the money" for Bob Churchill, that they also will expect to receive the same favorable treatment from Bob's "heavy hitting" contributors.

In fact, it has already happened! Before Osmond even collected a petition signature for his candidacy, he was the featured guest of Springfield Lobbyists who gave him over Eight Thousand Dollars to kick start his campaign. Since then, he has received even more money from generous Bankers and Insurance lobbyists from as far away as California! His campaign fund has grown to over Twenty One Thousand Dollars in less than 100 days. Since "In-Kind" donations of free printing, use of Banquet Halls, Offices, Telephones, Cars and the like have not yet been reported, the actual figure could be twice what has been stated publicly.

Obviously, major contributors expect something for their money. Could you blame Tim if he were tempted to compromise our best interests in favor of the big corporate fat cats when they want to raise rates or cut back on services? A puppet always responds to the string being pulled by the master.

Something for all of us to think about

If you want to see exactly where the money comes from, check it out for yourself on the Internet by going to <http://www.crp.org> and pulling up "The Center For Public Integrity". While on line, check out Paul Petersen's web site: <http://www.mtb-inc.com/paul>.

GOP House Candidates Square Off

By Ralph Zahorik

STAFF WRITER, The News Sun
January 28, 1998

WAUKEGAN - In an unusual tactic, a Republican hoping to succeed GOP state Rep. Bob Churchill of Lake Villa in the Illinois House is trying to distance himself from the Republican Party.

Paul Peterson of Waukegan, a self-described "independent conservative" who appeared with his primary opponent Timothy Osmond Tuesday at the Waukegan City Club, has called Osmond a "puppet" of the Republican establishment and "special interests."

"Paul Peterson ... is not endorsed and therefore not bossed by Republican Party leaders... who would deal away our freedoms for a campaign contribution," Peterson said of himself.

The party primary is March 17. There are no Democrats in the race.

Osmond, an insurance agency owner and Antioch Township supervisor, whose wife, Joann, is Churchill's longtime legislative aide, scoffed at Peterson's charge.

Peterson hasn't shunned party support in the past, Osmond said. "He's a Republican precinct committeeman and I'm not. Churchill walked Paul Peterson's precinct for him when he ran for the County Board," he said, after speaking to City Club members at the Waukegan Yacht Club.

Osmond said he is proud of support he has received from Churchill and other party leaders, including state Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis, R-Zion.

Osmond is a volunteer paramedic, former chief of the Antioch Rescue Squad and served eight years as an Antioch Township trustee. In his talk, he stressed his community service and "problem-solving" skills. As a businessman, "I've been able to see what laws can do...They can help you or hurt you," he said.

Peterson, 57, owner of the Washington Laundromat and an equipment broker, emphasized his anti-tax, anti-government values. "I am the candidate with a real backbone and the willingness to say 'No, No, No' to party bosses who want to make deals to restrict our freedoms and take more of our hard-earned money," he said.

Osmond was asked about the fact that he personally collected just three or four signatures on his candidate petitions. In a campaign flier, Peterson claimed "the party machine" collected more than 800 for Osmond.

Osmond acknowledged others collected most of his signatures, but noted that that is commonly done. Friends and relatives along with party leaders helped, he said.

FREEDOM ISN'T FREE!

As I continue to go door to door talking to your friends and neighbors, I am heartened by the tremendous support for my common sense, conservative ideals.

At a recent candidates debate, I again emphasized my belief that Less is More. Less Government means More freedom for all.

For too many years, our Republican lawmakers have promised to lower taxes and reduce bureaucracy, only to cave in later to the special interests who fund their campaigns.

As an Independent Conservative Republican I am:

UN Bought by Special Interests and
UN Bossed by Party Leaders

I promised to withhold my favorable vote for any unnecessary, redundant legislation that increases taxes or in any way restricts our freedoms.

My opponent says that he "will enact reforms" and "enact laws" if he gets into office. New laws almost always bloat our bureaucracy, increase the cost of government (and therefore our taxes) and take away some of our freedom to choose for ourselves.

There will be many important issues that must be addressed by your new State Representative in the 1999/2000 term. If you would like to give me your thoughts on school funding, casino gambling, highway improvements, land usage, the Zion Nuclear plant, or any other subject, please call, write, Fax or e-mail me at your convenience. (847-662-5562) or <http://mtb-inc.com/paul>.

March 17th is the only chance that you will have to elect your State Representative because no Democrat filed for the primary. Many voters don't bother to vote in the primary because they are "too busy," or they don't want to identify with a party.

If you want your voice to be heard in Springfield, you must make the effort to vote March 17th.

Ask for a Republican ballot (even if you think of yourself as an Independent or a Democrat) and vote for Paul Petersen.

Thank you,
Paul Petersen

Nomination Petition Objections Go Unheard

The Lake County Election Board consisting of Lake County Clerk, Williard Rooks Helander - Circuit Court Clerk, Sally Deadrick Coffelt and - Assistant States Attorney, Mitchell Hoffman declined to hear any of the 7 page argument calling for the removal of Timothy Osmond's name from the March 17th primary ballot.

Paul Petersen's objection to Osmond's filing was summarily dismissed on the flimsiest of motions, saying that Petersen's interest as a registered Republican voter of the 62nd district was not enough to allow his objections to be heard.

From the onset of Petersen's objection filing on December 22, 1997 the appearances of insider cronyism were clearly visible.

Election law calls for the swift hearing of objections within five days. Petersen had to call the election board after 7 days to request official notification of the time and place of the hearing. The election board gave Osmond and his team of legal experts an extra 7 days after that, to prepare for his response. If the hearing was allowed to proceed, Osmond would have been hard pressed to defend the petitions obtained on behalf of his candidacy.

Fraud was involved in two instances and the possibility of petition tampering exists due to the improper numbering of petition sheets.

It is interesting to note here that State Senator Adeline Geo Karis, State Representative Robert Churchill and other employees of state and local government agencies provided Osmond with hundreds of petition signatures while Osmond himself, only submitted three valid signatures on his own behalf.

We should all wonder if Osmond really wants this position, or if he is being used as a puppet of the party bosses.

The ruling was appealed to Circuit Court. Two judges secluded themselves. Judge Hoogasian affirmed the Lake County Election Board's decision refusing to allow the objections to be heard.

Theater of the people

Antioch's PM&L Theater is assisted by the community to provide local culture

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

It takes a town to build a theater. Why bother? For almost four decades, dedicated volunteers from throughout Antioch have built the PM&L Theater. The result is a local cultural tradition that enriches the people who live there and adds to the meaning of life in a small community. Palette, Masque & Lyre Theater is an example of how people and art work for one another.

"Theater brings out the best in people in that it is an enriching (experience)," said Betty Smouse, one of the early founder's of the theater. She said that arts are what help people help formulate their humanity.

"It's a town that tries to reach out culturally to its citizens," said Tom Hausman, former president and current member of the theater's board of directors. Like many people involved with PM&L, Hausman is able to describe relationships between PM&L and Antioch as well as the community and the theater. He said that the village and theater have a very positive relationship.

"It gives the town a slightly different flavor than if it weren't here," said Kenneth Smouse, another founding member. "There would be a different tenor to the town."

PM&L is located in a building built as a theater. Remodeled and expanded, the building is at the north end of the downtown business district near the corner of Orchard Street and Main Street. Established in the early 1960s, the PM&L theater group emerged from cooperative efforts by businessmen, bankers, artists, musicians, and actors. Today the group is managed by an elected board of directors.

Tom Hausman, and Peter Tintozzi.

Other people who have been involved with the theater for over a decade include: Hank Apostol, Dee Baum, Jeri DiMarco, Elmarie Beno, Bill Finley, Ricky Apostol, Aileen Biel, Mark Badtke, Shirley Jensen, Mickey Mandel, Dolores Finley, Donna Badtke, Art Doty, Tracy Kiederlen, Frank DiMarco, and Kathryn Hausman.

When the old, vacant vaudeville-style Crystal Theater became available, William E. Brooks, bank owner, and Ted Larson, a bank board member, of the State Bank of the Lakes, were willing to have a theater company in it.

"We rented that thing on a handshake and $100 a month," said Kenneth. "We had $120 at the time." Eventually, hard financial times for the theater group followed.

In 1969 and 1970, PM&L undertook dinner theater productions at the Antioch Country Club to generate revenue. "We wore out our talent very quickly," Kenneth said of the experimental experience. They also made money, paid the back rent, and remodeled the lobby of the theater. "We've been supported by earned income ever since then," said Kenneth.

"We had a building," he said. "We had a theater." That made everything else possible. "That has been a big part of our success. That has been the heart of it." It made the difference in why PM&L has lasted so long. That and the people who watch the plays.

"We have a very loyal audience that have supported us all along," said Jansta. "Those people are very important to us."

The synergy between the theater group and the audience is such that the last production, "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," was a sold-out production prior to the first show. Additional performances had to be added. Jansta said that selling out a show before it is performed demonstrates that the audience knows they will get a quality show.

Theater productions bring many people to town from outside the region who shop in stores and buy meals in restaurants. It serves as a destination to bring people to the north end of the downtown business district. "Its another audience for the village," is how Jansta describes it. There are even people who now live in Antioch and the surrounding area because they wanted to become a part of the social family and theater community of PM&L.

Actors and technical personnel in every production bring their money to town also. Longtime member Donna Badtke said that the Village Pub, 899 Main Street, is an established hang out for PM&L members. "The Village Pub has been absolutely wonderful to us," said Jansta.

Badtke said that many PM&L production values are achieved with materials bought from local merchants. "All the wood we buy; all the fabric we buy (is bought locally)," she said. Posters and printing is done locally. "There is a flower impact," she said of blossoms bought for actors. Another member said that a big financial investment by the volunteer theater group is all the bills they pay with their annual budget, now almost $100,000 a year.

Other community benefits are those associated with developing

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

You're on the go early in the week, Aries. Don't run yourself ragged. Take some time for yourself, and relax a little. You need it. A close friend wants to take you out. Say yes—you're sure to have a good time. A loved one gets into trouble and needs your help. Do what you can.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

A problem at work has everyone upset. Your steady nature will help ease the situation. Try to help others understand what is going on. Superiors notice your efforts. A family friend spends some time with you. While it gets to be burdensome after a while, keep quiet. He or she really needs this time with you.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

You know where you stand on an important family issue, so don't let others sway your opinion. Be strong, even if loved ones don't agree with you. That special someone wants to talk to you. You know what's coming, but don't let it get you down. He or she wasn't the one for you anyway. Capricorn plays a key role this weekend.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

Don't let the stress at work get to you this week. Cancer. Just organize your schedule, and do what you can. Superiors understand the pressure that you're under. An old friend calls you. Don't be angry that you haven't talked in so long; just catch up on all that has happened. Leo plays a key role.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Keep your eyes and ears open early in the week, Leo. It seems as if friends and loved ones are hiding something from you. Try to get to the bottom of the situation without being too pushy. A date you've been looking forward to goes well. This could be the beginning of a lasting relationship.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

Stay in control when it comes to a financial matter. Others are counting on you to make the right decisions. Don't let the pressure get to you; just do what you think is right. A friend has an important question for you. Give him or her an honest answer. Sagittarius and Libra play key roles.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

The week is going to fly by, Libra. You've got a lot to do, and with a little diligence, you can accomplish it all. Take some time for yourself at the end of the week. You deserve it. A loved one sends you some interesting mail. Don't leave it sitting on the counter; open it right away. What's inside will surprise you.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't be overly possessive this week, Scorpio. You can share your responsibilities with others without looking incompetent. Actually, getting help will give you much more time to spend with that special someone. The relationship progresses nicely at the end of the week. Aries plays a key role on Friday.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

Don't get upset with business associates when they are honest about some of your work. Take it as constructive criticism; they're only trying to help you. A family dinner that you've been dreading turns out to be a good time. It gives you a chance to get close to your loved ones. Enjoy it.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

You can't be in control of every situation, Capricorn, and Monday makes you realize this. Do what you're told, and work hard. Your efforts will be rewarded. A close friend needs some advice about his or her love life. Be honest, but don't hurt his or her feelings. The situation calls for tact. Pisces plays an important role.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

You're on your own this week, and you're loving it. You get to work at your own pace and do what you want to do. Enjoy it while you can, because things are going to get hectic soon. That special someone splurges on you. Before you accept everything, think about what you really want.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

Don't make a rash decision when it comes to your living arrangements. Find out all of the facts before making any change. Things aren't always as good as they appear. An old friend needs your help. Be supportive of him or her, and do what you can.

CRITIC'S CHOICE

Dialogue sparks 'Memory of Water'

The death of a parent is a natural event for high drama, and in Shelagh Stephenson's "The Memory of Water," the fit works perfectly.

Making its American premiere at Chicago's Steppenwolf Theater, the play unites three sisters at the home of their late mother, whose spirit is very much a presence. In fact, Mary Beth Fisher, as the deceased Vi, makes more than one appearance in scintillating two-hour and 20-minute production directed by Les Waters.

The action all takes place in the mother's bedroom, as the sisters each come to share their grief in their own personal way.

Amy Morton, as the eldest—now a successful doctor—is guilt-ridden because of a mistake she made as a teenager. Involved with a married doctor, she's still questioning the direction of her life. Martha Lavey, as the overly responsible daughter Teresa, is so stressed out ("I can't get the salt taste out of my mouth") that even the "health food" supplements she and her husband peddle can't help. Then there's the insecure, flighty younger sibling, played by Heather Ehlers, who has had no luck establishing a lasting, meaningful relationship.

The madcap scene in which the three women start trying on their mother's old clothes, wigs and assorted handbags is priceless. Yet there's a sad realization that none of these three women is destined to have a child.

The two men in the play—Tim Grimm and Rick Snyder—give strong performances, but the meatiest dialogue is reserved for the women ("mother runs through us like wine through water").

See "The Memory of Water" through March 29. Steppenwolf is at 1650 N. Halsted. Ticket information is available at (312) 335-1650.—By Tom Witom

What Can I Bring Home From My Trip Out Of The Country?

by JIM WARNKEN
President, North Star Travel

Customs regulations can be quite complex and are constantly changing. Presented here is a general outline for the average tourist based on today's rules. I would recommend you check out the U.S. Customs Service on the web at www.customs.ustras.gov for more detailed and current information before you travel.

Generally each traveler who is out of the country for more than 48 hours can bring back certain goods totaling $400, $600, or $1200, duty free. If your return flight was directly from the U.S. Virgin Islands, American Samoa or Guam, you get the $1,200 exemption. The $600 exemption applies if your flight, or cruise ship, returns directly from many of the Caribbean Islands, including Jamaica, the Bahamas, Barbados Aruba and a few others. It also applies if your return is from Belize, Costa Rica or Panama. If you're returning from any other country, you're limited to the $400 duty free exemption.

This exemption can only be claimed once in a 30 day period.

You are also limited in the quantity of certain items.

You can only import one liter of alcoholic beverages, one carton of cigarettes and 100 cigars. However, don't even think about trying to bring back those Cuban cigars you may find in Jamaica or Canada. Any tobacco products of Cuban origin are prohibited. (Check out www.ustras.gov/treasury/services/fac/fac.html for more information.)

Other prohibited items include pirated copies of video tapes, computer programs and cassettes. They will be seized and destroyed by customs.

Fresh fruits and vegetables cannot be brought into the country without an import permit. Most canned or processed items, as well as cured cheeses and bakery items are usually okay. Meats, including luncheon meats, sausages, pate, etc. are prohibited. Canned meats are okay only if an inspector can determine that it was commercially canned, cooked in the container, hermetically sealed and can be kept without refrigeration. Plants, seeds and plant products also require an import permit.

Gold coins, medals, and bullions were prohibited, but are now allowed as long as they did not come from Cuba, Iran, Iraq, Libya or North Korea.

While not prohibited, the Food and Drug Administration recommends that ceramic tableware from Mexico, China, Hong Kong or India be used for decorative purposes only, since they often contain dangerous levels of lead in the glaze that can leach into certain foods and beverages served in them.

I can't get no satisfaction for $300

Are you one of those folks who, like me, remembers the excitement of watching the Beatles' first appearance on the Ed Sullivan show? Do you still feel the thrill you did back then, knowing that your mother would faint if she found out you were going to a concert by the "Dennis Rodman" of rock bands—the Rolling Stones?

Well, I am sorry to inform you that the 60's are now officially over, despite the large number of teenagers currently prancing around in bellbottoms and trying to be groovy.

I say this because I almost tripped over my love beads recently when I read that the Rolling Stones were going to end their "Bridges to Babylon" tour where it started - in Chicago - on April 23. But wait - that's not the part that made me trip:

They're asking $150 and $300 for the majority of the tickets.

Exactly what cloud are these guys on? What makes them think the average fan can afford to spend $300 on a ticket just to watch a skinny, wrinkled rock icon, with lips the size of Clinton's libido, as he struts around the stage doing his imitation of the rooster mating dance?

Granted, I still like their music

LIFE'S A BEAR

Donna Abear

(I cannot hear the song "Start Me Up" without dancing and embarrassing my children in public). But not THAT much. Wild horses couldn't get me to spend $300 to see ANYONE, except maybe Elvis. And that's only because he is dead, which would make a "revival concert" especially interesting.

I also found out that the Eagles were the first rock group to charge a $100 ticket price (I guess we know who to blame). When asked how they could ask their poor fans to pay so much money, singer Glenn Frey reportedly answered that their "poor" fans were all in their 40's and up, arriving at concerts in their chauffeur-driven limousines and wearing Gucci shoes and expensive furs.

Huh? Pardon me, Mr. Frey, but the only time there is any sort of fur in my closet is when my cat gets locked in there by mistake. As for Gucci shoes, I'm not sure - do they have those at Payless?

If you ask me, I think the Stones and the Eagles may have suffered some major brain damage from all of that pot smoke at their concerts. (By the way, for those of you readers out there who, like President Clinton, claim you never inhaled - forget it. If you breathed at a rock concert, you inhaled!) These pampered rock stars mistakenly believe that the majority of their fans live exactly like they do.

Somebody needs to bring these bands back to reality. Some of you may remember when disc jockey John "Records" Landecker used to be on radio station WLS, and he did a bit where he would call people up and yell, "BOOGIE CHECK!" These days John is on Oldies 104.3, and I think this might be a good time for him to start a new bit - call up these old rockers and yell, "REALITY CHECK!"

Until that happens, you won't catch this columnist crossing any "Bridges to Babylon". Not as long as there's a troll under the bridge who is charging us old goats a ridiculous amount of money to cross it.

Questions or comments for humorist Donna Abear can be sent to Lakeland Newspapers, 30 S. Whitney St., Grayslake, IL 60030.

MOVIE REVIEW

Big difference—'Friend' or 'Fool'

Although the popularity of television's "Friends" continues, most of these 20-something pals have proven to have less than stellar big screen careers, with the gals crossing over with a little more success than the guys.

Courtney Cox lucked out with her two "Scream" appearances; Lisa Kudrow did okay playing essentially the same dumb blond character coupled with Mira Sorvino, and Jennifer Aniston has just confirmed her "cuteness" with her movies.

Matt LeBlanc would probably prefer to forget his film forays, animals and all, although Matthew Perry drew more than a few chuckles in "Fools Rush In." So far, David Schwimmer's first two films have made us want to wait for Thursday night. Too bad the omen of the title of his latest flick, as well as the fact that "strike three and you're out," didn't deter him from trying again.

In "Kissing a Fool," Schwimmer plays an unattractive Ross, all too busy whining to be the least bit funny.

Schwimmer is a foul-mouthed Chicago sportscaster about to marry a book editor, played by Mill Avital. His character takes part in even more male adolescent games than Ross does. Schwimmer has a friend, played by Jason Lee, test her premarital faithfulness in a plot unworthy of a quickly failed sitcom.

This "R" rated bit of badness is billed as a romantic comedy. It is neither, seldom funny, and never romantic. If you are in need of a date movie, see "Titanic" again!

We wouldn't even recommend this as a "wait for the video" candidate because we're giving it 1.5 stars out of a possible five. In fact, even a repeated repeat of an old "Friends" episode is preferable if it is Tuesday or Wednesday and you really suffer from "Friends" withdrawal.—By Gloria Davis

David Schwimmer, Mill Avital and Jason Lee star in "Kissing a Fool," which isn't even worth the video rental fee.

Flatlander's offers a variety of music this month

Flatlander's Restaurant and Brewery, Lincolnshire, will have a variety of music offerings in its Tap Room in March.

Tim Lukoski, general manager, said there will be exceptionally high quality performers this month playing blues, jazz, pop, rock and folk. Several of those appearing have recently cut cd's, and will have them available for people who enjoy their style of music.

He said that half of the performers are monthly repeat performers at Flatlander's because the audience enjoys them. He added that some, such as Derrick Stout, have said they enjoy playing at Flatlander's because it has a friendly and responsive audience.

Appearing starting at 9 p.m. for approximately three hours each in March will be:

• Saturday, March 7: Barrel-house Chuck, appearing for the first time, performing Chicago blues.

• Thursday, March 12: Derrick Stout Quartet jamming with great jazz.

• Saturday, March 14: Nite-crawlers, a 1997 blues favorite returns.

• Thursday, March 19: Cirrus Falcon, with their distinctive brand of pop/rock, whose music in the past has brought applause at Flatlander's.

• Saturday, March 21: Tumbleweed, a newcomer, features rock music.

• Thursday, March 26: Breakin' Strings, a new act at Flatlander's playing pop folk whose performers know how to reach a tap room audience.

• Saturday, March 28: Derrick Stout and the turnstiles (correct spelling), has become a monthly favorite.

Flatlander's is an award micro-brewery whose beer will be featured in Michael Jackson's new book about the world's great beers. The restaurant serves Midwestern cuisine that has earned favorable attention from media food critics.

The establishment is located on the northeast corner of routes 45 and 21, Milwaukee Avenue, and Olde Half Day Road, just north of Route 22 in downtown Lincolnshire and two miles west of Interstate 94. The telephone number is 847/821-1234.

Looking for someone? 'Using Public Records' book can help

Every day thousands of people are searching for other people. Some are adopted children looking for birth mothers, while others are looking for missing spouses, their ancestors or missing friends. Many people think these searches require expensive private detectives or other professionals. In most cases this is not so. Usually these detectives get their information from the same public records that you can use.

A new book by Robert L. Berko, Executive Director of the non-profit Consumer Education Research Center will help amateur searchers in their quests for missing persons, birth parents or information about themselves that government bureaus have in their files. The book, Using Public Records to Find or Investigate Anyone, is available for $22.95 plus $3 shipping and handling ($25.95 total) from Consumer Center, 1980 Springfield Ave., Maplewood, NJ 07040 or by calling 1-800-872-0121 with credit card.

Many searches are as simple as looking for the name in a database containing all telephone records in the United States.

Other public records that you can search are marriage, death, divorce, voter registration, Post Office, Motor Vehicle, Selective Service military and many more records. The book will not only show you how to determine what records you need, but how and where to get these records.

If your problem is a missing spouse who in arrears on child support, every state has a Child Support agency that will do most of the searching for you even if your spouse is in another state. The book lists the address of the Child Support office for every state.

For those searching their roots, there are many sources of information. Foremost is the Family History Centers which have literally millions of different studies and histories of family names of those who are working on family histories for their own family names. Some of these people could be working on your family's history and could save you the search.

The national archives have records of anyone who has had any contact with the US Government. This includes just about anyone who has lived in the country. They have Indian records going way back and even records of black slaves owned by Indians. In addition they have land records, passenger lists, naturalization records, passport records, and much more. The address of all the Regional Offices of National Archives are listed as well as their computer on-line address.

Increasing numbers of people are looking for parents. For those searching parents who moved away, the quest is usually not difficult. For adopted children looking for birth parents, the search is very difficult.

They have no name to start their search because birth and hospital records are changed to reflect the name of the adoptive parents. But don't lose hope of finding your birth parents. There are records that are not changed and ways to find the true facts behind the altered records.

In addition there are several hundred organizations that can and will help you in your search. These organizations provide advice and assistance from people who have made many successful searches to locate birth parents. Using Public Records to Find or Investigate Anyone includes the names and addresses of these organizations as well as tactics for making your search successful.

Many people would like to know the contents of files kept by government agencies such as the FBI. The book contains all the rules that govern getting copies of documents about yourself or anyone else. A check of FBI records, for instance, will reveal everything they have gathered about you. It would be wise to check their files before applying for a government job or any activity or permit that requires an investigation. Also included are form letters for requesting information and even forms for appealing when the agencies don't give you the information requested.

The existence of search help on the Internet has made information so easy to access that searches that have taken people as much as 40 years can now be done in minutes.

There are free on-line services such as LYCOS that will permit you to enter a name and will, in seconds, give you the address and telephone number of everyone with a name who is among the 80 million people with telephone listings.

Other services such as nexis-lexus will search credit bureaus files for the name you are searching. Almost everyone who has ever applied for credit is listed. That is about everybody.

More information can be found on the group's World Wide Web Site <http://www.planet.net/cerc>.

THEATER: PM & L a big part of the Antioch community

young talent that grows and moves onto the professional world of television and theater, building skills and self confidence of children who participate in productions, and creating opportunities for talented people to maintain and practice their craft.

The links between the drama department at Antioch Community High School and PM&L go back to the origins of the organization. Recent productions at the high school, such as last summer's "Godspell," also help PM&L build the audience for live theater in Antioch, according to Jansta. PM&L member Tracy Kiederlen said that high school musicians have proven themselves to be talented people who add depth to presentations of their staged musicals. "The Lakes Area Band has been very helpful," she said. "I must say our 'Superstar' band was pretty damn good!"

Hausman said that people from the high school involved in the theater have moved into professional careers. Tony Starke, of Lindenhurst and ACHS, is now appearing in the weekly television serial "The Magnificent Seven," on the CBS network. He had appeared in "Our Town" and "Ah! Wilderness." Peter Thelen of Fox Lake also appeared in PM&L productions. "He's been doing a lot of work in Chicago (theaters) the last four years," said Hausman.

One community benefit extends theater beyond the brick walls. Many PM&L people have brought theater to other parts of Antioch. Kenneth has created jazz venues at St. Peter's Parish's Footlights, an annual fundraiser. PM&L has produced revue material at Footlights longer than any other community group. Antioch's Rotary and Lions Clubs have featured productions at their events done by PM&L.

"We've provided talent. Folks will call us," said Jansta of when groups need assistance. "We do things for the community." PM&L talent is also part of the Fourth of July and Halloween Howl community events.

People in Antioch contribute to PM&L, too, beyond showing up to watch the play. The Antioch Rotary Club provided the theater marquee as well as lighting. "Rotary has been a big supporter of us," said Kenneth Smouse.

"People bought seats," Hausman said. All the theater seats installed a few years ago have people's names on them so others may sit in comfort. The estate of Homer and Francis LaPlant provided a new sprinkler system for the theater. The United Methodist Church of Antioch provided support with rehearsal space when it was needed. The company was allowed to use vacant Globe Store space to create a temporary dinner theater. "The Foreigner" was presented. "It was a nice little show for us," said Hausman.

"Claude LeMere and others with the Chamber of Commerce have bent over backwards to get things for us," Hausman said. The Village of Antioch helped get the front of the theater painted during the summer of 1997 to help it look more like part of the downtown area. Local business owners have long been strong supporters of the theater, according to Kenneth. The Village of Antioch helped secure a $35,000 State of Illinois tourism promotion grant for PM&L to build a scene shop and rehearsal space on the back of their building. Recently, Antioch has noted on the entrance sign at the village limits that it is the home of live theater.

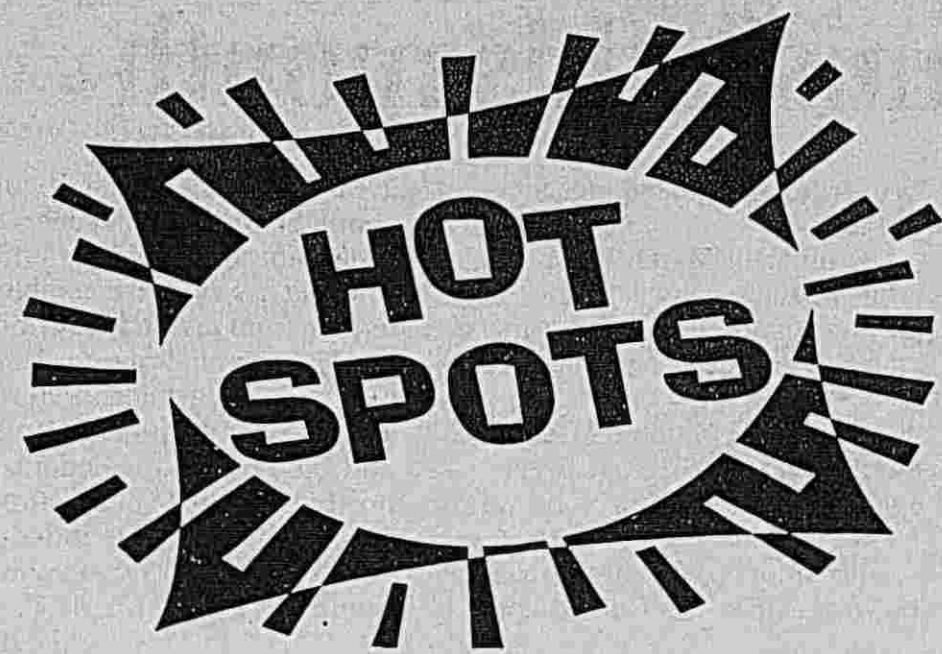

Community assistance extends back into the deep life of the theater company. When Ted Larson and Bill Brook agreed to sell PM&L the building in the early 1980s, it was for a modest sum. "In essence, they were making a donation," said Hausman.

Kenneth said that no theater is an island. "If you provide a venue, the talent shows up." Across four decades, Village and theater have reinforced one another's talents and created a special part of the Antioch community.

"So many of us have raised our families in the theater," said Hausman. "We did this because it's fun," said Jansta.

As they say, it takes a village....

Old World Italian Atmosphere, Food

The Trattoria Pomigliano restaurant, located at 602 N. Milwaukee Ave. in Libertyville, like its name, exudes an old world Italian atmosphere, while serving the finest old world Italian cuisine.

A couple of years ago, Nick and Patty Saladino, Ann Panico and Deanna Panico got together and opened this family owned and operated eatery where customers can dine in the quaint and cozy aura of an Italian villa of yesteryear complete with checkered tablecloths and cream stucco walls that are adorned with paintings of scenes from Naples, Sicily, Capri and Rome, plus scenes from many Italian operas.

Of course spaghetti and lasagna are on the hand painted menu which lists Grandma Anne's works of European art, spotlighting the best Tiramasu you have ever tasted.

Rack of Lamb Vesuvio is a Friday and Saturday special. Zuppa de Pesce, a fish soup that contains clams, muscles, calamari, monk fish, cod fish, lemon sole and red snapper, all served over a tender linguini, is a favorite.

The Veal Marsala, veal sautéed in a wine sauce, served with pasta on the side, and Chicken Francese, tender chicken sautéed in an egg batter, spiced with lemon and served in a wine sauce, are palate treats you won't be able to get enough of.

The restaurant's hours are Tuesday through Thursday for lunch and dinner, from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., Friday and Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday is reserved for special parties. # The many therapeutic benefits of tending a garden

Have you ever noticed how gazing upon a field of flowers calms your nerves? If the mere sight of a garden in bloom evokes a sense of serenity, imagine what tending to a garden can do for you and all your senses. Perhaps you have been content with viewing other peoples' gardens, believing that gardening is too time consuming, or too much hard work for you to take on. Believe me, there is a lot of hard work involved, especially working a large garden, but the benefits truly outweigh the work. Even a small flower garden provides many hours of peace.

GARDEN JOURNAL

Lydia Huff

People garden for various reasons, for some it is a hobby, others see it as a life's work, a masterpiece ever changing. Many just love to enjoy the fruits of their labor, fresh flowers on the table, a ripe tomato, perfect for the tasting. Getting involved in gardening provides one with many benefits, besides the obvious ones.

Gardening has helped teach me many of life's lessons. For instance, a lesson in patience. I was always in a hurry, couldn't wait for things to unfold in their own time, but gardening changed my perspective on things. Gardening does not offer instant gratification. One hoes the earth, adds some fertilizer, plants the seeds, waters, and waits.

I've also learned the value of planning, preparation and journaling. These lessons carry on in other aspects of my life as well. When I am truly frazzled, and things just are not going right, I go out among my flowers and vegetables, and the simple act of just drinking in all the beauty of the garden calms me down. The physical work of gardening, being it just the monotony of pulling weeds, makes me forget my troubles, and gives me a better outlook on life. Nowhere do I feel more of a part of the scheme of the universe than in my garden. Observing the insects doing what comes naturally (like eating my garden or other bugs), providing a feast for a local rabbit, watching the birds eat the insects that are eating my garden, just affirms the cycle of life and my part in it.

Gardening has taught me a most valuable lesson—that is one of control. No matter how hard I work at my garden, or how simple I make it—I cannot control the outcome. Things happen, weather is strange, but that's okay, life is persistent, and the garden grows anyway, maybe not as planned, but it grows. That experience gives me the permission to make mistakes, to try new things, to nourish my creative side. Gardening for me is a very spiritual experience, it brings me close to nature and close to my God. Why not give it a try?

Do women smoke to maintain weight?

Some women smoke cigarettes in the belief that it is a way to control weight or promote weight loss, a concept that may explain why women may not kick the habit as quickly as men.

"Early studies focused on the adverse effects of tobacco smoking on men, so we don't have all the research we need about smoking among females," says Mary Hayes, DDS, a pediatric dentist who practices in Chicago. "For example, we don't know all the reasons women smoke or the total extent of damage tobacco causes women, even though we know lung cancer is the leading cause of cancer for women, exceeding breast cancer. We do know that exposure to smoking begins very early, and prevention programs need to start no later than the second or third grade level."

Ninety percent of all smokers begin before age 18, but the average age for a young girl to start smoking is 14 years of age. According to the Monitoring the Future Study conducted at the University of Michigan, approximately 33 percent of female twelfth graders said they smoked a cigarette within 30 days prior to the study.

"Because females start smoking at an earlier age, they probably find it harder to kick the habit," says Dr. Hayes. "Plus some will continue to believe that a smoking assists them in controlling their weight."

However, Dr. Hayes cautions, there currently is no evidence to demonstrate that smoking cigarettes or cigars is effective at suppressing appetite.

"Even if research conducted in the future determines that smoking cigarettes can suppress appetite, there still are too clearly are linked to an increased risk for emphysema, stroke, heart attacks, and lung disease. They cause cancers of the mouth, larynx, esophagus and lungs. Plus there's the whole issue of second-hand smoke. A girl or young woman who is health conscious should not smoke cigarettes or use tobacco in any form to maintain weight."

Dentists also are concerned about the effects of tobacco and its correlation to pregnancy and other issues regarding reproduction. "I strongly recommend that young women who smoke maintain regular dental visits," concludes Dr. Hayes. "Dentists readily detect the adverse oral effects of tobacco use—cigarettes, cigars, smokeless—during routine examinations and can help patients with tobacco cessation programs."

The Chicago Dental Society strongly supports the regulations adopted by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to regulate tobacco products, categorize nicotine as a drug, and restrict access to tobacco products by children.

New technology conquers pain, anxiety of injection

Dr. Jeffrey T. Cohen gives patients the highest quality dental care while addressing their concerns about the pain, fear and anxiety associated with standard syringe injections.

At Metro Square Dental Associates in Vernon Hills, Dr. Cohen uses the most advanced technology available to accomplish this. "The Wand" is the revolutionary system that has dramatically changed the patients' experience in having local anesthesia.

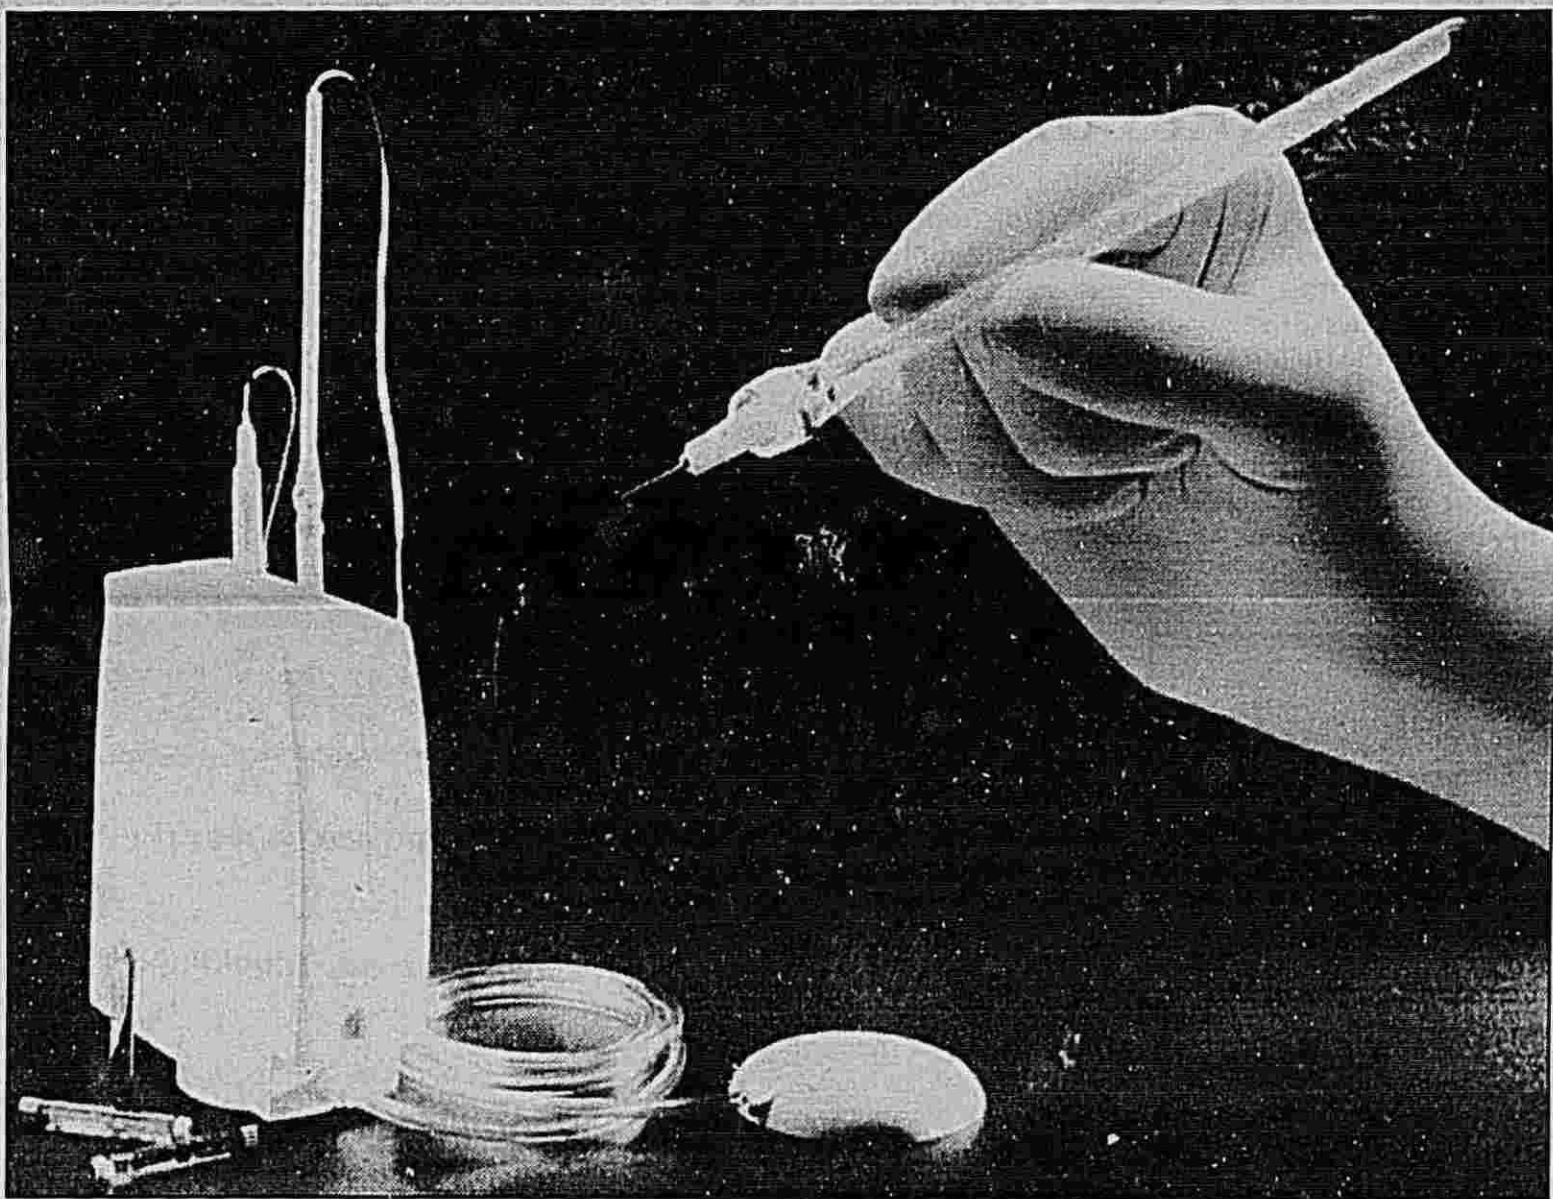

"After just one experience with The Wand, most patients' apprehension vanishes," states Dr. Cohen.

Developed by Milestone Technologies, The Wand System, represents the first major technological advance in anesthetic delivery since the syringe was first invented nearly one hundred years ago.

The Wand doesn't look like a traditional syringe, so even the patients' initial apprehension is minimized. Then during the actual injection, the development of an anesthetic pathway combined with computer controlled constant flow assures that there is minimal awareness of the injection.

"The combination of visual difference and painless performance makes for a more positive overall experience," says Dr. Cohen. "A relaxed, comfortable patient is a happy patient, and even children don't object to local anesthesia delivered in this manner."

The source of most discomfort for injections is not the needle, but the flow of anesthetic into the tissue of the mouth. Unlike traditional syringes, The Wand delivers anesthetic at an optimal flow rate for a comfortable injection every time. The Wand actually uses a microprocessor to control the volume and the pressure of the anesthetic, keeping these factors at a level that is typically below the threshold of pain.

Dr. Cohen feels that his patients deserve state-of-the-art dental care, and certainly reduction of patient discomfort is a top priority.

"My patients have truly appreciated the efficiency and comfort of The Wand," says Dr. Cohen. "It is always a pleasure when the procedure is finished and the patient says, 'Wow, that was really easy!'"

Victory Memorial Hospital lowers cost of osteoporosis test

Early detection is the best way to prevent the crippling effects of Osteoporosis, the bone weakening disease which threatens thousands of people as they age. To encourage testing for Osteoporosis, Victory Memorial Hospital has reduced out-of-pocket costs associated with its bone densitometry test for Osteoporosis by $50 during the months of January, February and March.

Victory's bone densitometry test is a simple, 10-minute CT-based bone scan. The results provide the doctor with a graphic readout as well as statistical findings of the test. This allows doctor and patient to visualize the loss of bone mass which has occurred.

Osteoporosis affects women in greater numbers than men; although they age, men become more at risk for the disease. Unchecked, Osteoporosis reduces bone mass which results in weak, brittle bones that break easily leading to painful and sometimes life threatening fractures.

In the past, nothing could be done to minimize the damage caused by Osteoporosis. Today, however, medical science has discovered successful treatment methods including medications, diet guidelines and exercise regimes.

Once a person has been diagnosed with Osteoporosis, her doctor can create a treatment plan to meet her needs. It may include Victory Memorial Hospital's Osteoporosis Lifestyle Program. The program, led by experienced registered nurse counselors, provides education, diet and exercise counseling to help minimize the effects of the disease. The lifestyle program is also useful to help people reduce their risk of Osteoporosis, if they have not yet been diagnosed with the disease.

For more information about Victory's Osteoporosis test and a list of risk factors, call the community Relations Department at 1-800-843-2464.

Does sports before schoolwork give kids a sporting chance?

Dear Dr. Singer, I am a private tutor and have been running into a phenomenon I'd like you to comment on. It seems that a lot of the kids that I tutor are also involved in sports activities. The sports have ranged from soccer to basketball to hockey to gymnastics to skating, etc.

My concern is that it seems that to many of these parents, the sports come first and the learning comes second. I have had tutoring sessions canceled last minute because of a game. I've had parents try to rearrange tutoring lessons to fit into the sports schedule. This happens in front of the child and I find myself wondering what messages are getting through to these kids.

How can they feel that academics and learning are first priority and important if they see and hear their own parents placing the sports as more of a priority than the learning. I have also seen parents do their kid's homework to finish it so that the child can play the sport. I get furlous when I see this and of course, have to be tactful when presenting it to parents. I don't know how to get through to these people and wondered what your opinion would be on this? Mrs. W.

PARENT'S PLACE

Dear Mrs. W.,

This is somewhat of a tough quandary because on the one hand, definitely, academics and school performance is of the utmost importance, but many of the kids that I see that come in for my learning program also seem to have naturally gravitated toward the sport because it is something they do well and can feel good about. If the academic area is a constant struggle (and if they are coming to you it probably is) and the child experiences nothing but pain from it, it is a natural thing for the child to want to do what that child is good at. Watching a child feel good is also a good thing in parent's minds and they don't want to take that one good thing away. Now, with that said, I have to say that the one piece I don't see much of anymore is adults helping children to learn to stick with the tough stuff even when it hurts. I see a lot of going with the natural stuff that feels good. I often will have parents want to work my learning program around sports events as well. Usually I ask them if they think their child will go pro in that sports area. If the answer is, "no," I ask them to then look at some of the very things you've brought up here. What message is the child getting from that? What message do they want the child to get? Ultimately, which will get the child further in life, sports or school? Usually, I am not looking at two parents who are purposely trying to destroy their child's academic chances. On the contrary, I am staring into the faces of two people who want their child to feel happy and do well at something that the child holds dear. Two people who want the best for their child and think that this is the perfect way to get that. Most of the time, in my experience, gently explaining your position and talking about it leads to a logical way to work out the scheduling difficulty and the priorities.

Another important thing to remember is this: many parents who have dealt with their child's learning problem, have been through many levels of help and testing and programs etc. They may not have had much success with the learning programs out there so far, and are not quite convinced that the "program of the week" will be any different in terms of success. It is up to you to not only let them know how your treatment will be successful for their child, in specific terms, but also to help them to see the future through that success vision. It's important to help them learn to tackle the brick wall that has become in the way of their child's success. It's important to show them that they can take that wall down brick by brick. Once they feel successful, priorities will most likely shift naturally.

Attacking parent's choices about their child's sports without any of the rest of this involved will most certainly put the parents on the defensive and make it so no one hears anything anyone else has to say. Bottom line here is, if parents decide that sports need to be first, there isn't much you will be able to do to change that. You try your best and the rest is up to the parents. Personally, I feel and have seen that there is a way to balance both sports and academics. Good luck.

Dangerous driving and 'Road Rage' affect nearly half of all drivers

"Road Rage," also known as aggressive driving, is on the increase, but the AAA-Chicago Motor Club says drivers can take action to avoid being victims—or perpetrators.

On any given day, as many as half of all motorists witness an incident of road rage or aggressive driving. In a recent survey, 48 percent of responding AAA-CMC members said they witness at least one daily incident of motorists driving in ways considered dangerous to other motorists. Similarly, 46 percent admitted their own driving behavior is sometimes affected by anger or frustration.

Aggressive driving has progressively increased during this decade, according to the AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety, with reports of violent traffic incidents increasing by more than eight percent a year since 1990.

After they've been cut off, tailgated, or slowed down by a vehicle in front of them, these angry drivers can commit incredible acts of violence—including assault and murder.

What causes aggressive driving?

Remarkably, the precipitating incidents are often trivial. Typical arguments concern parking spaces, being cut off in traffic, refusal to allow passing, minor traffic crashes, obscene gestures, loud music, overuse of the horn, slow driving and tailgating.

Violent traffic disputes are rarely the result of a single incident, but rather are the cumulative result of a series of stress factors in the motorist's life. The traffic confrontation that turns violent is often the "last straw."

Who are aggressive drivers?

Although many drivers involved in these incidents are men between the ages of 18 and 26, anyone can become aggressive if they let their anger take precedence over safe driving.

How can motorists protect themselves?

• Don't offend: When drivers are asked what angers them most, the results are remarkably consistent. A few specific behaviors seem unusually likely to enrage other drivers. You can protect yourself by avoiding them. Avoid cutting off other drivers, driving slowly in the left lane, tailgating and gestures.

• Don't engage: Give angry drivers lots of room and avoid eye contact. If you believe the other driver is trying to start a fight, get help. If you have a cellular phone, use it to call the police. Otherwise, drive to a place where there are people around and use your horn to get someone's attention. Do not get out of your car and do not go home.

• Adjust your attitude: Forget about "winning the race." Instead of trying to "make good time," try to "make time good." Listen to soothing music or a book on tape. Put yourself in the other driver's shoes. Whatever the reason for someone else's aggressive driving, it has nothing to do with you. Stay cool and don't take other drivers' actions personally. You cannot control the traffic, only your reaction to it.

Take your toothbrush to work

Brushing teeth often is essential to maintaining dental health

The road to good dental health not only goes through the bathroom at home, but also through the restroom at work.

"More people should consider taking a toothbrush to work with them to brush during the day," says Astrid Schroetter, D.D.S., a general dentist who practices in Chicago's Loop. "Many people eat and drink at least three times during a typical workday. This snacking habit puts people at a high risk for developing bacterial plaque. If not brushed away, the bacterial plaque continues to multiply, exposing tooth enamel and can cause cavities and inflammation of gums."

As adults keep their teeth longer, says Dr. Schroetter, it is important to care for them to ensure they last a lifetime. "By brushing three times a day and flossing, you can cut your risk of developing cavities, gum irritation, gum disease and tooth loss," she says.

According to the 1993 Crest Complete Survey that measured the tooth-brushing habits of 1,240 adults, 94 percent of Americans say they brush nightly; 81 percent reported brushing first thing in the morning. Most people said they brush several times a day, but only 30 percent brush their teeth after every meal. More women than men reported brushing before going out, and women are more likely to brush their teeth at work or in a restaurant restroom.

"Good teeth impact many aspects of life, including a person's professional image as a good smile makes a good first impression," says Dr. Schroetter. According to a study just released by Oral-B Laboratories, 40 percent of respondents said the first thing they notice about a coworker is his or her smile.

"I think brushing after lunch is a concept that is definitely catching on," says Dr. Schroetter. "Dentists constantly tell their patients that they must brush twice a day and floss once a day, but there is no reason why a person cannot brush three or four times each day. I strongly recommend that people who want to maintain good oral health begin brushing their teeth after lunch. It's one of those ideas whose time has come."

Crisis Center offers program for abusive men

It is estimated that 3.3 million children witness domestic violence in their homes every year. Overwhelmingly, male children who witness this abuse are likely to repeat this inter-generational cycle of abuse, whether physical, emotional or psychological. A Safe Place/Lake County Crisis Center offers a program for abusive men, many of whom have been referred by the court system.

The Intervention Program for Domestic Abuse and Violence (IP-DAV) offers two groups that meet weekly in confidential locations. Group members learn to acknowledge their responsibility for violence and to practice alternative techniques for handling anger and controlling their behavior appropriately.

Former nude dance bar will get a strip job

O'Kelly intends to keep promise and clean up Offsides property

By SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

Three days before the March 17 primary election, Lake County Board Member Diana O'Kelly (R-Mundelein) is going to keep a promise she made several months ago.

On Saturday, March 14, at 9 a.m., O'Kelly will be at the Offsides Bar and Grill, located at 26228 N. Route 83 in Diamond Lake near Mundelein, along with anyone else who wants to help clean up an eye-sore.

"I think Sharon Gavrilos (the owner of Offsides and a resident of Hoffman Estates) has made a tremendous effort in this community to stand up against the nude bar and I promised Sharon when we were working to close this place, that if she could get this place back, I would help in getting it back in order," O'Kelly said.

The clean-up is primarily in the rear of the building, where "a bunch of building debris, concrete, insulation, landscaping and all kinds of junk are filling in a drainage way," O'Kelly said. "That needs to be cleaned out."

This needs to be done at the request of Lake County in order to get red-tagged violations removed, she said. Remodeling the interior of the business will have to wait until Gavrilos receives approval from a court approved liaison because it is in bankruptcy.

O'Kelly is willing to do her part, but is requesting the assistance of others in the community to help clean-up the business.

"I think if we can pull the community together, help this owner and get this place operational and see if we cannot have a nice place in the neighborhood to go," she said.

O'Kelly is appealing to Amazing Mundelein, Project CAPE, residents and community and business leaders to help clean the site.

Gavrilos has indicated once the place is cleaned up, she intends to re-open it as a bar.

Anyone interested in helping with the clean-up project should contact Ellen Whelan, founder of the Citizens for Community Standards organization, at 566-9071.

Crane admits accepting funds from tobacco industry

McSweeney blowing smoke over campaign finance gaff

By LEON FILAS
Staff Reporter

State Representative Phil Crane admits he has taken money from tobacco industries in the past, but points out he cannot be bought by any industry.

This comes in the wake of a debate between Crane and his challenger in the March 17 election, David McSweeney, at the League of Women Voters in Arlington Heights on Friday night.

A question was posed to both parties as to whether they have ever or will ever accept campaign contributions from the tobacco industry. McSweeney stated he will not ever accept campaign contributions from the industry, while the incumbent Crane announced that he has "never accepted the contributions from the industry."

McSweeney, in a press conference held in his political office in Palatine, said that statement was a lie, and that Crane has indeed accepted $12,500 worth of campaign contributions over the past 3 years from the industry.

"Phil Crane was mistaken," said Kirt Johnson, campaign chairman for Crane for Congress. "He receives money from industry and from political action committee's to such an extent that he doesn't know where all the money comes from."

"He has to take political contributions to pay for his campaign, and he doesn't always know about them. He can't pay for it himself like McSweeney can."

"This just proves that he is out of touch with the people of the area," McSweeney stated.

Quoting the letter that David McSweeney wrote for congressman Crane in 1994 during his reelection bid, Congressman Crane can not be bought," Johnson stated about Crane. "McSweeney endorsed him in 1994 and stated those words in an endorsement letter. 'Phil Crane is not the type of guy you buy.'"

McSweeney calls Crane a liar for accepting campaign funds from tobacco industry, even though Crane denied accepting such funds in a debate. Crane later rescinded his remarks.

Link proposal to help Lake road woe, maybe

'Fair' bill would give more road dollars to Lake

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

A proposal to distribute Illinois motor fuel tax revenue on a per capita basis rather than the current formula could generate $6.5 million additional funds to improve Lake County roads.

The measure may be assigned soon to a committee for further action according to State Senator Terry Link, D-Vernon Hills. The proposal is intended to make motor fuel tax distributions more fair, according to Link, its sponsor.

"Since Lake County motorists are paying much more in motor fuel taxes than smaller counties downstate, it's only fair that we receive a proportionate share of the road repair dollars. That's what this is all about," Link said.

He expects proposed Senate Bill 1852 to benefit other population centers in the state such as DeKalb, Champaign-Urbana, and Madison/St. Clair Counties near East St. Louis.

"It's a more equitable way of funding," he said.

The current formula to distribute motor fuel taxes is based on population, geographic target areas, and road mileage. Link said 49.1 percent of the taxes are divided among municipalities based on population. Cook County receives 16.74 percent, and all other counties receive an allocation from 18.27 percent based on motor vehicle license fees collected. Township and road districts receive a share of 15.89 percent based on road mileage.

Senate Bill 1852 proposes that a population formula be used. The growth and population is in the northeast corner of the state according to Link. He said that road use is much greater here.

"Unless you base the formula on population, you're not going to be allocating dollars for road repair in the places they're most needed.

'It's only fair that we receive a proportionate share of the road repair dollars.'

Terry Link

My bill remedies that situation," said Link.

Link does not know to which committee his bill will be assigned. "I'm willing to take my chances," he said.

"Mostly, I would presume it would go to transportation or local government."

Link sits on the local government committee.

Bill 1852 does not affect budgeted funds used by the Illinois Department of Transportation.

"This deals with county and township roads," Link said. "It would not affect any state road projects."

He expects the measure to pass. "It can pass if we have an opportunity to get it out on the floor," he said.

Oil dump: Lake Zurich to create recycling center

Center will be available to all county residents

By SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

The Village of Lake Zurich and the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County have teamed up to provide an oil recycling center to the public.

A drop-off facility will be located at Lake Zurich's Public Works Facility, 505 Telser Rd., where all Lake County home owners can take their used oil for waste disposal purposes.

A designated site for the drop-off site will be built in front of the facility, and will be checked on a daily to weekly basis by Lake Zurich Public Works employees, said Victor C. Ramirez, Lake Zurich Director of Public Works/Engineering.

The village had an oil collection site at its former public works facility which was available for use by village residents only. That site has since been abandoned, along with its underground collection tank, Ramirez said.

A new 500 gallon above ground tank approved by OSHA will be installed at the facility, where public works employees will deposit the dropped off oil and leave it to be collected by an outside contractor.

SWALCO became involved in the project when the village was seeking some relief on improving its facility and seeking financial assistance. SWALCO is providing technical assistance at no cost as well as up to $4,000 in financial assistance.

"I hope the new tanks would be in place in April," said Andrew H. Quigley, SWALCO executive director.

Although it will be open to the public, neither Quigley nor Ramirez believe it will have a higher than current use.

"I am sure it would really be used by those close to the village,"

Quigley said. "I do not anticipate a huge influx, but I do expect to see some," Ramirez said.

Other communities have oil recycling centers open for their own residents, such as Vernon Hills and Deerfield, Quigley said. Several commercial operations are also available.

The Lake Zurich Board of Trustees approved an agreement with SWALCO for the oil recycling center on Feb. 23, with the SWALCO Board of Trustees approving it on Feb. 26.

Senior issues in Lake County legislative package

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Issues of concern to Lake County senior citizens have been included in the Lake County Board 1998 legislative program for Springfield legislators.

Medicaid supplementation for nursing home care, increased social security retention for nursing home residents and assisted living and retirement housing are three issues included in the program.

County Board member Judy Martini (Dist. 1-Antioch) expressed support for the placement of these issues in the legislative program. She expects them to be "a hot topic" during the primary election.

"Medicaid is paying less today for the actual cost in a nursing home for seniors because the annual costs have increased 22 percent over the same four year period," said Martini.

Martini said that in the past four years there has been only one increase for Medicaid supplementation for nursing home care for seniors. The Lake County Board has requested legislators to adjust Medicaid reimbursements in nursing homes. An increase by 20 percent will bring the reimbursements closer to actual incurred costs, according to Martini. She said that the last increase for Medicaid was 6.8 percent spread over a four year period.

Martini: Wants better senior support from state

Martini believes nursing home seniors should have a higher social security retention amount. She said that currently a senior citizen living in a nursing home is allowed to retain $30 a month from their social security for the purchase of perfumes, haircuts, candy, and other personal items. She said costs for these items have increased since the retention amount was set twelve years ago.

"Our seniors should not have to go without these items just because government has not kept up with the cost of inflation. It needs to be adjusted," said Martini.

Martini said that the county is asking the legislators to increase the amount to $40 monthly.

Lake County legislators are also supporting Bill 743. According to Martini, the bill permits nursing homes to convert excess capacity into assisted living or retirement housing without a certificate of need.

"With the aging of America, we need to find affordable, comfortable places for our seniors to live," said Martini. "There is a shortfall for our seniors and it needs to be addressed."

Martini urged senior citizens to call their state representatives and ask them to support the County Board's legislative program.

Rodriguez keeps juggling job, coaching, radio gig

Alan Rodriguez, an investment broker for A. G. Edwards and Son in Chicago helps kids make real money every year.

Making it his business to teach business, he leads a course called applied economics at Addison Trail High School. The students issue share in a company, then engage in various business activities to make the value grow. "The students have a strong sense of ownership in their company," he said.

At the end of the year, the company is dissolved and the money distributed. "Last year our class made about $24 a share," he added.

Through a similar program called Project Business, Rodriguez works with eighth graders at Palisades Middle School in Burr Ridge.

"We have an auction, selling off items the kids like, to show them how to supply and demand work to escalate prices," he said.

His educational efforts are not limited to children since Rodriguez also teaches finance courses through Lyons Twp. Adult Education.

At age 32, Alan T. Rodriguez is just warming up.

An investment broker for two years at A. G. Edwards and Sons in Chicago, he was a broker for two years at Hamilton Investments.

For seven years, he taught religion classes at St. Cletus Church in LaGrange and at St. Scholastica in Woodridge. However, just when he got smart, decided to slow down and stop teaching the Sunday school, he got a strange feeling.

"I felt like I wasn't doing enough for my community. I felt I had to give something back, so I started coaching," Rodriguez said.

Being head basketball coach as St. Cletus wasn't enough, he also had to take on the job of assistant coach of the school's football team. He is now an assistant coach for eighth grade and won the LTHS tournament.

"With teaching Sunday school, I felt I taught the kids morals. It's a little different with sports. Teaching them to try to achieve and enjoy winning makes kids feel like they're doing something. It's very important."

Who knows what's next for "ALT" as he sometimes calls himself? Rodriguez even makes house calls. To arrange an appointment, call 1 (800) 888-4299.

LCSWCD celebrates Tree Sale

For the past 16 years, the Soil and Water Conservation District of Lake County has held their annual tree sale. The goal of the program is to promote conservation by providing area residents with premium plant material while supplementing funding for District programs. The tree sale has grown from a modest seedling sale in 1982 to a sale boasting over 310 participants and offering 57 species of trees, shrubs, perennials, wildflowers, grasses and groundcovers.

The tree sale is a very vital fundraiser for the District, which is celebrating its 41st anniversary this year. It supports conservation programs in the areas of environmental education for students and adults, soil erosion and sediment control programs, streambank stabilization projects and helps District staff to serve the over 50 requests a month for natural resource information and technical assistance.

The District, this year in cooperation with the Lake County Forest Preserve District, will sponsor its Second Annual Big Tree Contest to coincide with the tree sale. The contest hopes to celebrate the importance and beauty of trees, while spotlighting some of Lake County's biggest living things. This year the District is awarding prizes for the biggest maple trees.

We encourage all Lake County residents to participate in this once a year event by contacting the Soil and Water Conservation District of Lake County at 223-1056 to request tree sale and contest order forms. Big Tree Contest entries.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Offsides to get cleaned up

Mundelein—Three days before the March 17 primary election, Lake County Board Member Diana O'Kelly (R-Mundelein) is going to keep a promise she made several months ago.

On Saturday, March 14, at 9 a.m., O'Kelly will be at the Offsides Bar and Grill, located at 26228 N. Route 83 in Diamond Lake near Mundelein, along with anyone else who wants to help clean up an eye-sore. The clean-up is primarily in the rear of the building, where "a bunch of building debris, concrete, insulation, landscaping and all kinds of junk are filling in a drainage way," she said.

"I think Sharon Gavrilos (the owner of Offsides and a resident of Hoffman Estates) has made a tremendous effort in this community to stand up against the nude bar and I promised Sharon when we were working to close this place, that if she could get this place back, I would help in getting it back in order," O'Kelly said.

Student earns volunteer award

Wauconda—Cara Corelli, a senior at Wauconda High School, is an all-around student, excelling in-and-out of the classroom. She was recently honored for her exemplary volunteer service with a state Certificate of Excellence in the Prudential Spirit of Community Awards program, which honors young people across America for outstanding, self-initiated community service activities.

Corelli, 17, said she received the award for a number of volunteer efforts, such as coordinating a fund-raiser for Alexandria Paris, the 6-year-old Wauconda cancer patient, and the building houses in the Appalachia region over the summer with a youth group from her church, Wildwood Presbyterian Church, in addition to her volunteer work at school.

"It makes me feel really good to help other people," she said, "and when I am recognized for it, it shows other people they can do it, too."

Police jurisdiction expands

Mundelein—Village trustees approved a historic agreement, giving its police department jurisdiction for policing parks governed by the Mundelein Park and Recreation District.

Park district commissioners are likely to approve the agreement next week, allowing Mundelein police to police the entire community. Village trustees approved the five-year agreement at their March 2 board meeting, calling for the village to receive $95,000 a year for its services.

"This provides a consistent approach throughout the entire community, and removes any impression of different policing strategies based on different geographical areas of the community," said Mundelein Police Chief Raymond J. Rose. The park district police force will remain intact, handling other park-related policing needs.

Millburn fun fair scheduled

Lindenhurst—Parents and teachers at Millburn School will present their third fun fair for students and parents March 14 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Games for students, raffles for adults, and food for all people there help to turn the school gymnasium into a major boost for school spirit.

"Kids love it," said Julie Robinson. She serves as Co-Chair of the Millburn School Fun Fair with Lori Dewitt. "I have only heard, in three years, great feedback," she said of the event.

"We want the kids to come away with some good prizes and thinking they had a good day."

The effort to provide a good day involves 100 volunteers who work hard to attract children to play some of the twenty-five games they offer. All children walk away winners at some level.

There is also a 50-50 raffle. Chances are sold for $1 and the golden flower pot yields up a winner who shares in half of the ticket sales.

"Last year the winner got about $250," Robinson said.

Food is sold. Hot dogs, sloppy joes, nachos, and soda is available for those who get hungry.

Fox Lake bridge gets repaired

Fox Lake—One year after the Atwater Bridge Project was put to bed, a new bridge project jumps to the front.

Leon and his...donkey

The Riverside Island Bridge, a bridge 50 feet long spanning between Route 12 and Riverside Island Drive, is the next project that has been in desperate need of repairs in the village.

The same company that performed the Atwater Bridge renovation, Ver Tex Concrete, came before the Fox Lake village board on Monday night, asking for the village to accept the contract for the bridge so construction could begin within the week.

The bridge, which would be made up of 5 separate concrete beams to be stretched from Route 12 over the Fox River to the island, will take approximately 2 months to complete.

Burger King proposed on Rte. 41

Wadsworth—A parcel of land near Wadsworth is being targeted for development as a combination Burger King/mini mart/gas station.

The land located to the east side of Route 41, south of Route 173, is owned by the Broston brothers, Larry and Jay.

The Brostons also own Hy-Way Auto Parts Inc. along Route 41. They plan to lease the corner property, at Highway 41 and Route 173 to Lou Perrine, of Kenosha, for the Burger King development.

The brothers are also interested in attracting some commercial development to the remainder of the property along Highway 41, to the south of Perrine's site.

Currently the property is being reviewed for annexation into Wadsworth. Village President Don Craft said the development is in accordance with the village plan and would bring in tax revenue.

Pleasant Hill residents fight back

Round Lake—With the annexation of the proposed Fairfield Village imminent, a group called the Pleasant Hill Improvement Association, the homeowners association that sits on the northern side of the proposed subdivision, readied themselves for the fight of their life.

They, simply put, do not want the annexation to take place nor do they want the development to happen at all.

"We have three main concerns over the development being built and placed in Round Lake Beach," Victoria Siegfried, secretary of the improvement association and main spokesperson, stated. "There will be a huge density problem, the property values will drop and we don't want it annexed into Round Lake Beach, we would much rather see it in Round Lake."

Swing Street Cafe '98 gets sax man

Antioch—Swing Street Cafe '98 brings the best alto saxophone player in the State of Illinois to its musical presentations this year.

All they had to do was push senior student Mike Garippo up front. The Illinois Music Educators Association recently said he is the best in the state.

For two nights, the south gymnasium of Antioch Community High School will be transformed into a swinging cafe to feature all the music that students at the school play. The cafe doors open at 7 p.m. and the music starts at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, March 13 and Saturday, March 14. Tickets are available only at the door.

Garippo is in the marching band, plays lead alto saxophone in the 'A' Jazz Ensemble, and first chair alto saxophone in the school's Wind Ensemble.

Swing Street Cafe '98 may be one of the best opportunities to catch him playing with all the school's other musicians and singers. The Antioch Community High School Fine Arts Department will showcase the Jazz Ensembles, Concert and Symphonic Bands, along with soloists, Madrigal Choirs, and theater members.

Tickets are $6 for adults, $3 for students, and free for children under 5. The funds raised from ticket sales and food sales will be used for the instrumental music program at Antioch Community High School.

YMCA camp spring break offered

Lake Villa—Hastings Lake YMCA is offering a spring break camp program for kindergarten to 5th grade children from March 30 to April 3.

The camp offers archery, hiking, horseback riding, and indoor swimming. The day camp program is from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. For an additional cost, extended care hours are offered from 6:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The spring break camp program is run by Stacy Siwek and Shani Allen, summer camp program director.

"Nature hikes, team sports, arts and crafts, field trips, and group games are offered at this camp program," said Siwek. "We are offering programming from 6:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. for working parents."

Parents who wish to enroll their children must complete a registration form and return it with full payment. Additional information is available. Call Siwek at 847-356-4000 with questions about fees and details of the program.

Hastings Lake YMCA Camp is at 21155 West Gelden Road in Lake Villa.

3-on-3 tourney to benefit Leukemia

Lake County—The Somebody's Hero-Kathleen Meyers Grabemann Chapter of the Leukemia Research Foundation will hold its second annual 3-on-3 Basketball Tournament on Saturday, April 18, at the Windy City Fieldhouse, 2367 W. Logan Blvd., in Chicago. Cost is $300 for adult teams and $100 for children's teams, grades 4 to 8. The Somebody's Hero Chapter is in memory of Kathy Meyers-Grabemann, a former Loyola University basketball standout who lost her battle to Leukemia in September, 1996. For more information on the 3-on-3 tournament, call 424-0600.

Experience tips scale on county board endorsements

Dist. 1—Antioch

Judy Martini is a gutsy lady who has worked hard for her district. She has sent a message to low politicians of both Republican factions, that she won't take orders. Martini has allied with the people on hot issues like casino gambling and learned a great deal in her first term on the board.

Linda Pedersen is a well-respected community leader and an individual who has shown she is committed to the Antioch area. She has much to offer the area with her organizational talent.

Mike Mortensen is a non-candidate. He hasn't participated in any forums or actively campaigned.

Martini edges Pedersen because of her experience on the board. She will tackle tough issues. However, Pedersen is a strong candidate and will serve the area well if elected. If not, we hope she will continue to find ways to serve the community of Antioch. She is a gem.

Dist. 2—Wadsworth

Larry Jones is Bob Neal's hand-picked successor. He has worked behind the scenes of politics for a long-time and appears to be well entrenched with the Lake County Republican organization. He has a good grasp of the issues.

Betty Rae Kaiser has served on the Warren-Newport Library Board, is a Wadsworth Village Trustee and a life-long resident of the area. Betty Rae is a multi-dimensional candidate who shows vast knowledge of the issues facing the area. She is straight-forward and is not beholden to anyone and has spent years working with area politicians and could be a voice for cooperation in the district.

Chuck Johnson, a life-long resident of the Zion area, is a small businessman who wants to represent the people. Johnson hasn't been an active campaigner and that leaves him at a disadvantage.

Loretta McCarely has been interested in county politics for more than 10 years. The proposed expansion of the Waukegan Airport and its impact on her community propelled her to get involved. But, the nurse has more to offer than just environmental concerns. She is pleasant and likable and quickly aligned herself with the pro-environment factions of the county board. She has worked actively as a forest preserve steward and with other environmental concerns.

Both Kaiser and McCarely could be effective leaders. For her independent stance we give the edge to Kaiser.

Dist. 7—Eastern Gurnee

Al Westerman has a strong background in county government. In his short two-year first term on the board, Westerman has been active on the planning and zoning committee and a voice for controlled growth and respect for the environment.

Mark Ratfelders is a Gurnee trustee who has the support of Mayor Dick Welton in his primary battle. Ratfelders considered running for Warren Twp. Supervisor last spring and seems committed to getting involved in politics on a higher level. If you like Gurnee's rapid development pace, you will like Ratfelders.

Our endorsement goes to Westerman who has shown he knows how to work with all elected politicians to enact sensible restraint on development while protecting the environment.

Dist. 9—Waukegan

Democrat Debra Halas has served as the board's vice chairman and has shown one thing during her two terms—she knows how to get along with whoever is in charge. Halas rarely speaks on the floor of the board. She has the education, a masters in public administration and the attendance record (100 percent) to make a quality county board member, but no one knows what she's thinking.

Newcomer Peggy Shorts is campaigning with the slogan: Communication, Commitment and Concern. She plans to be more people-oriented and proactive. She also says she won't lockstep with the Republican mainstream to survive in the political world.

Because it is time for a change, we endorse Shorts for a seat regarded as Democratic.

Dist. 10—Mundelein

No first term county board member has worked harder than Diana O'Kelly. She has shown repeatedly that she is on the board to do a job—representing the largely unincorporated 10th District. O'Kelly is a dynamo who won't take no for an answer when she is working to solving a problem, like leading the fight against a local strip joint. She has shown her independent thinking and has broken rank with the "pro-environment" block on occasion, including a vote to appoint controversial Dick Raftis to the county's zoning board of appeals.

Mary Bowes Fitzgibbons has the unfortunate task of challenging O'Kelly in the primary. A personable woman, Fitzgibbons is just no match for O'Kelly's impressive, short-term record.

We strongly endorse O'Kelly.

Dist. 11—Grayslake

Sandy Cole is completing a two-year term on the county board. She is very knowledgeable about environmental issues but we wish she would be more open-minded about working with the majority of the board.

Don Gossett may possess the necessary skills to be a good county board member. His background in finance and administration would truly be an asset on the board. Unfortunately, his commitments to Libertyville Community High School have prevented him from properly getting involved in the campaign.

Paul Schmidl has some good ideas about the management of county facilities and roads. He is young and determined but again seems to have lagged in the campaign process.

Cole has been campaigning hard and has shown growth in the past year. We give Cole the nod.

Dist. 12—North Chicago

Angelo D. Kyle has served two terms on the county board and has shown repeatedly he will easily fall in line behind whoever is the board leader.

John Balen is a rough and tough guy. He's been to the county board before and he can get the job done again.

Our endorsement goes to Balen for a Democratic nomination.

Dist. 15—Libertyville

As far as politicians go, Bob Ostroga is the antithesis of charismatic. We don't see a promising county board member evolving out of his performance thus far.

FT. 'Mike' Graham has become a one issue candidate with his zeal for acquiring forest preserve land at almost any cost or by any method.

Carol Calabresa is a known quantity and is sensitive to environmental issues. But she has also shown she can find middle ground on certain issues that should not be delineated by party convention.

Calabresa gets our outright nomination.

Dist. 21—Riverwoods

Andrew Altman is a dentist who wants to get his hands into something other than people's mouths. He appears to be concerned with the environment and wants to become involved in local government. His association with activist Davida Terry, who has lost credibility in recent years, is not a plus for his campaign for a GOP nomination.

Martha Marks has completed two terms on the county board and openly admits the forest preserve is her one true love. Marks is a watchdog for the environmental group to the point of sometimes being classified as an extremist. We hope she can learn to get along better with board members in order to work together. She may not be the most popular county board member, but her constituents support her. She represents Riverwoods well by voting the mind of her district.

We give the nod to Marks.

VIEWPOINT

Singer 'cashing in' on music biz history

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Historic Belfry Theater in nearby Williams Bay, Wis., where acting luminaries Paul Newman and Harrison Ford learned stagecraft, is alive and doing well, thank you.

The tiny theater, barn boards covering the walls but with comfortable new seating, now is home base for Eddie Cash, a lounge favorite in Las Vegas for 25 years before the lure of his beloved Green Bay Packers and the availability of Belfry brought him to southern Wisconsin.

Eddie now is doing what he loves, singing the favorites of the 50s and telling never-before-told stories about the icons of country and western, rock n' roll, rockabilly and pop. Name a star—Elvis, Frank, Conway, Merle, Carl, Johnny—Eddie knows them all. He weaves together their stories and sings their music, the combination making a fascinating one man revue.

Cash and his wife, who also is his manager, musical director, sound mixer and lighting technician, provide two hours of musical entertainment, nostalgia and down home friendliness not to be found anywhere else in the U.S. Eddie mixes with his audience before the music begins, during the intermission and after the show ends, saying, "Thanks for coming. I hope you enjoyed our show." The other night, addressing all 18 of us in his audience, "I'm glad you came. I needed you tonight."

Mid-February isn't exactly rock n' roll season in the lakes country. Eddie uses the "slow season" to keep in tune, break in new material and pay the light bills. As the days get longer, the audiences will be getting bigger. Cash packs 'em during the summer high season.

This time of year, though, you can be sure of a seat. A leisure drive through the country will provide a rewarding show and a sincere compliment from the star. "Thanks for being here tonight. I'm glad you came."

No GOP revolt

"It ain't gonna happen." That's the word from both sides on prospects for an upheaval of Lake County Republican leadership when precinct committeemen gather after the March 17 primary to elect central committee officers. So it appears County Chairman John Schulien's job will be secure for another 24 months. Restless committeemen said 2000 is the target date for the overhaul. State Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) is firmly entrenched as Democratic county chair.

Enhanced staff.

Staff status at SEDOL Autistic Program at Oak Grove School has been conferred on Echo, a 95 pound black and mahogany Doberman. Echo is a registered Therapy Dog. Handicapped youngsters take special delight in giving such commands to the understanding pet as "sit" and "fetch" which helps build communication and language skills. Echo's owner/trainer is Jane Smerge, an autistic program teacher. On days when Jane brings Echo to class, the staff is regarded as standing at one more than the normal 19.

One man's family

The two sprouts, Erika and John, didn't pass up an opportunity to toast their grandpa at a family birthday gathering. With their glasses (cola) held high, they added their own words of greeting. Where do kids learn stuff like that?

Stolman: the 'artist' with correction fluid

David B. Stolman is on the Lake County Board representing the Buffalo Grove area from District 20. He came to the board as a Democrat. He then switched and won as a Republican in 1996.

There were reports that Stolman would run for state representative this year. In fact, he circulated petitions for it, but changed his mind to run for re-election to the County Board.

Stolman also wanted to be a precinct committeeman, a party position. There were rumors that some party people were grooming their new switch-hitter to become GOP county chairman. The county chairman is picked by the elected precinct committeemen after the primary election. Stolman lives in Precinct 246. He may not be sure where he lives because the petitions that he personally filed were for Precinct 240. The petition which read for Precinct 240 was circulated by Buffalo Grove Trustee DeAnn

SEEING IT THROUGH
John S. Matijevich

Glover who lives in Precinct 246.

Glover admitted that the petition that she circulated for the March 17 primary was not for precinct committeeman, but for Stolman's county board race. After returning the petition sheet to Stolman, "someone" whited out with correction fluid the county board position and replaced it with the precinct committeeman position. Also, in the space for Stolman's District 20 position, "someone" squeezed a "four" in between the two digits to become Precinct 240.

Of course, all of the shenanigans are a violation of the law. That "someone" must have thought that the precinct committeeman position is so inconsequential that no one would bother to examine the petition. When Stolman's petition was challenged and it became embarrassing, and it was turned over to the state's attorney's office for review, he faxed to the county clerk's office his withdrawal from the precinct committeeman position.

Contacted by the media, Republican County Chairman John Schulien said that it seemed as though "someone" made an inadvertent mistake. Interestingly, he did not identify who that someone might be. He can't deny, though, that the person who filed the petition with all of those mistakes was David Stolman. There were so many errors, Stolman qualifies to quarterback the Chicago Bears or play for the Chicago Cubs.

It's not the first time that Schulien has tried to rescue wayward Republican candidates. When PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Farm Bureau picks two GOP independents

Lake County Farm Bureau officials, known to favor pro-growth candidates in the past, raised some eyebrows in announcing two endorsements for the March 17 primary for office seekers not always in tune with Farm Bureau.

Incumbents Al Westerman, representing parts of Warren Township and Waukegan, and Diana O'Kelly of Fremont Township (rural Mundelein) picked up Farm Bureau backing. Both Westerman and O'Kelly are considered independent Republicans not in lock-step with growth policies of GOP regulars.

Farm's Bureau's legislative committee interviewed 20 County Board candidates out of 36 who returned questionnaires and asked to be screened. Committee members used a numerical evaluating system.

Following are Farm Bureau 1998 recommendations:

Dist. 1—two candidates were equal in our scoring process. Judy Martini and Linda Pedersen were both qualified.
Dist. 2—Republican Betty Rae Kaiser
Dist. 7—Republican Al Westerman
Dist. 8—Republican Jim Stanczak
Dist. 9—Democrat Debra Halas
Dist. 10—Republican Diana O'Kelly

Crane: Looks to dispatch young challenger with ease

McSweeney: Caught in David and Goliath review?

Dinner postponed

Several factors, including the untimely death of Congressman Sonny Bono, brought about the postponement of Congressman Phil Crane's appreciation dinner Monday, March 9.

Bono had agreed to appear as the "surprise guest" at the bi-annual event to rally Crane supporters. Among other happenings combined to put a blanket on the dinner were Crane's recent hospitalization for pneumonia and his daughter, Rachell's death earlier this year after a long illness.

Staff members made light of political considerations: that some rugged primary races in Lake County might create frosty feelings amongst party attendees and confidence that the veteran Congressman will dispatch his young challenger, David McSweeney, with ease.

The dinner is expected to be rescheduled for late spring or early summer.

Double duty

State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) and Al Salvi are campaigning on two fronts—their battle for the GOP nomination for Illinois Secretary of State and their hometown precinct. Close to home, Churchill may have the harder job, beating back County Board Rep. Suzi Schmidt like he has in the past. Salvi is out for a precinct post in Fremont Township.

Doing the work

Ann Simonian, with her husband Steve, longtime GOP activists, is doing the work, but won't get the title of executive director of the Lake County Republican Federation until April. Simonian replaced Valery Gallagher, who now is a government affairs specialist for Abbott Laboratories. Simonian is a resident of Libertyville.

Green summit

Billed as a Green Summit, eight County Board candidates are receiving honors Friday night, March 6, at a meeting of the Sierra Club Woods and Wetlands Group and the Lake County Conservation Alliance.

Due for recognition are Judy Martini (Dist. 11) Loretta McCarley (Dist. 2) Al Westerman (Dist. 7), Peggy Shorts (Dist. 9), Diana O'Kelly (Dist. 10) Sandy Cole (Dist. 11) Carol Calabrese (Dist. 15) and Martha Marks (Dist. 21).

Funky place-names all went elsewhere

Had a couple of early settlers had their way, Fremont Township, here in Lake County, would have been named Tickleville. But the pucky pioneers, Smith and Raymond, were out-voted back in 1850 and the town was named after Gen. John Fremont, an explorer of the time.

Well, so much for a piece of Lake County being included among humorous place-names in the United States.

Tickleville could have ranked right up there (or down there) with such burrs as Boring, Md.; Ding Dong, Texas; Lollipop, Texas; Dull, Tenn.; Fearnot, Pa.; Panic, Pa.; and Why Not, Neb.

Another quaint crossroad popped into the news recently when the Postal Service announced it may close the post office in Muddy, population about 100, down in southern Illinois.

The Muddy post office is about the size of a one-car garage. "I've seen outhouses that are bigger," joked one resident. But it's the glue that holds the little community together and it's also a place to which folks from nearby towns drive so their mail can be postmarked "Muddy," something like Santa Claus, Ind., at Christmas, and Hell, Mich., the year 'round.

Had our Fremont been named Tickleville it might have enjoyed a similar quirky kind of fame.

Our national sense of humor becomes more sophisticated with every succeeding generation, so it's interesting to know that way back in the middle of the 19th century some of our trailblazers, however rugged their frontier, had a frisky funny bone.

A Lake County history book recalls that Antioch, my adopted hometown, "acquired considerable notoriety in the 1840s from the numerous attempts made to adopt a name."

A zealous religious group, the Campbellites, wanted their settle-

THE PFARR CORNER

ment to have a biblical name. "Whereupon," reports the history book, "the wags of the neighborhood, who were not of this church, rather in a spirit of ridicule, suggested Jericho or Joppa."

"Finally, at a church meeting, it was agreed to take the suggestion of their mischievous neighbors and adopt a scripture name, and that it should be Antioch, where Christ's disciples were first called Christians."

George Stewart, an authority on the subject, wrote in his book, "Names on the Land," that humor, sentiment, sophisticated wit, frontier earthiness and religious awe contributed to the naming of our American places.

He notes that Pancake, Pa., isn't named for a breakfast favorite but rather in honor of early settler George Pancake.

Sometimes the entertainment world lends a name to a community, such as Gene Autry, Okla., and Tarzan, Texas.

Stewart wrote that countless places with steep cliffs are called Lover's Leap but never has a jilted swain been known to jump from one.

In 1830, inhabitants of a village known as Fort Dearborn changed the name to Chicago, apparently unaware that the Indian word "Chicago" meant Smelly River or Onion Place, for the oodles of garlic growing there.

Residents of Hooker County, Neb., must explain often that their spot on the map is named in honor of "Fighting Joe" Hooker, the Civil War general.

Maybe they should just change the name to Tickleville.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'Bulldozer Bob' reaches out his long arm to buy political races

Like a specter risen from the grave of Lake County politics, ousted County Board Chairman "Bulldozer Bob" Depke has continued to exert his strong-arm influence at the County Building. He, along with Jack Martin, developers and land speculators, has taken to financing a number of county board races. Why? What deals have Jack, Bob et al, made with the new machine candidates in exchange for their support?

Bob and Jack have specifically targeted a number of slow-the-growth incumbents and candidates. These people are: Carol Calabrese of Libertyville, Sandy Cole of Grayslake-Wildwood, Martha Marks of Riverwoods-Lincolnshire, Judy Martini of Antioch, Loretta McCarley of Beach Park, Diana O'Kelly of Mundelein-Fremont Township, and Al Westerman of Gurnee.

Bob and Jack have performed a public service by showing us the non-machine candidates who have the courage, integrity, intelligence and strength to say NO to over-development, overcrowded schools, outrageously growing traffic and crime. Thank you for showing us the candidates who say YES to quality of life, to planned development and structured, rational approaches to all of the problems brought to us by uncontrolled growth.

One voters view

I'm voting for Sheriff Gary Del Re to continue running the Sheriff's office. I'm voting for a man who took on the tremendous duties and obligations required in performing the Sheriff's job. I'm voting for a man who did not turn down the opportunity to assume a leadership role in preserving law and order. In this alone, I've grown to admire Gary Del Re.

I'm voting for a man who has shown he cares and works with the community. One who already has programs in force that helps our communities within Lake County. In his own words, "Community policing is a partnership between the police and the community that identifies problems and solve community problems. It is an idea based on trust. Without trust between police and citizens, effective policing is impossible."

So true. Gary Del Re visited my community and addressed our questions and concerns. He's shown he "Walks the talk."

I am not affiliated with the Sheriff's office. But I've had the opportunity to meet and communicate with the ranks of the Sheriff's office from the undersheriff, captains, lieutenants, and deputy sheriffs since 1996. I've heard nothing but praise and admiration from these officers for Sheriff Del Re. I believe in changes but I also believe in the old cliché, "Why fix it if it ain't broke?"

I know there are many people in Lake County who really don't know who the candidates are and rely on the newspapers and candidate pamphlets to help them decide who to vote for. I am just one voter, but I'm one voter who would like to share to the people of Lake County that I've had the personal pleasure of knowing and communicating with Sheriff Gary Del Re. He has a big heart. One that is so big, it needed a "little" tune-up to continue to serve the people of Lake County. I'm voting for Gary Del Re.

STOLLMAN: Rife with mistakes

former State Rep. Tom Lachner used a highly-charged negative campaign in his bid to become a state senator, Schulien tried to defend the attacks. It worked all right for Senator Terry Link. In his "real" life, Schulien is a dentist and is used to putting his hand in people's mouths. In his political life, he's getting used to putting "his foot in his mouth."

When I read that the whole fiasco was a matter of inadvertence, I thought back at Stolman's "original sin" when he transformed from a Democrat to become a Republican.

Many Democrats were upset over his change and some expressed their ire toward Stolman.

We shouldn't have been so harsh with him. After all, it was probably all a mistake. He's probably been a Democrat all of the while, but somehow, "someone" probably whited out Democrat and inadvertently replaced it with Republican a couple of years back.

Not to worry. Mistake-prone Stolman, after he somehow hooked up with the "bulldozer batch" of Republicans, was given the prize of being Chairman of the powerful Financial and Administrative Committee on the county board. That's the committee that deals with figures, so I hope that he hasn't used up the supply of correction fluid in that sensitive position.

In the end, Stolman will probably be appointed to the precinct committeeman position by the county chairman after the primary election. By that time, there should be a general consensus in just what precinct he lives.

One more thing, David. I've talked to enough Democrats who have told me that you can put that correction fluid back in your pocket. They're afraid that you might white out Republican and replace it with Democrat. Inadvertently, of course.

This is wonderful?

I am calling in response to "tough break." I am a teacher in a Catholic school. I only make $19,000. People are calling in the paper, saying teachers only make $40,000 for 180 days. Those 180 are 12-hour days, for $19,000. Why is that so wonderful. Teachers usually do their jobs, not for the money, but for the satisfaction of teaching the kids.

Do you know...

As a business owner/home owner, I'd like to send a message; asking a question of parents of Antioch Township children. Do you know where you kids are in the evening hours?

We have a small business. Our business, on Main Street, has existed in Antioch, for just a little over three and a half years, and during that time we have been burglarized once, and our Marquee sign broken three times. Each time, the vandalism has occurred after dark. Of course, the culprits go untouched.

Replacement of the signage, costs a total of $800, and we carry a deductible of $500. You do the math as to how much it has cost to repair. Who will pay?

In this same three and a half period, our Antioch Township house and/or personal property in our driveway has been vandalized. Why this total lack of respect for personal property?

When will parents take the responsibility for the conduct of their children? Enough is enough! Please teach your kids to respect others' property; public or private.

Lemon deal

I bought a car from a family-run car dealership. Part of it is in Fox Lake, part of it is in Antioch. They have always been good to us, have sold a lot of new cars to my family. This time around I could only afford to buy a used car. Three months after I got it, it broke down. It wouldn't start after it got cold. After $1,500 in repairs at their shop, the mechanics told me that the car was not repairable. So I went to the top sales manager there and he laughed and he shut the door in my face. I don't want to bad-mouth the dealership in Fox Lake, because they had nothing to do with this, just the one in Antioch. I want the people in the community to know that these people are not as good as they pretend to be. And I also want the new chairman of the Chicago Auto-traders Association to know exactly how these dealerships handle things when he is not around.

Fox Lake

Antioch beautification

I live in Antioch and I keep hearing about the beautification of the village and I think that it should be as nice looking coming into town as going out. My question is over at the old Sunrise Office Supply building on North Avenue. There are three junked cars that have been sitting there for well over a year. My question is, when was it zoned for a junk yard or used car lot? Beautification of Antioch should be something that is seen no matter which direction you are going, and that garbage sitting over there is just annoying. All you hear is village officials stating how beautiful the town is getting. I am more than willing to help the town get fixed up, but not when junk like that is allowed.

Leash your dog!

To the inconsiderate homeowners in the Country Walk Subdivision, namely those on living on Rosewood Lane, I would like to say you need to keep your dog on a leash. We are tired of watching your dog roam around the neighborhood. We have a dog we keep on the leash because we love him. Next time we see your dog, don't be surprised if the police show up at your door.

Welfare fraud

Six months ago I became an informant on a person I lived with whom in Round Lake Beach concerning welfare fraud and tax evasion. I would like to verbalize a complaint to all the individuals who turned their back on me, and to the media who blew this issue off. I would like to say the law needs to be changed, because the welfare laws and IRS laws give cold hearted individuals the open door to fraud. I tried to reach Mark Obian, our state representative, but he is ignoring this. People who fraud welfare to evade taxes should be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. Soon you will see my flyers around the Lake County area. I would like you to read what is says, participate as a proud American, and assist me in bringing this crime to an end.

Unincorporated Lake County

Stop the gangs

I sit here and read all this stuff about gangs and the tagging. I have teenage kids, and let me tell you, they have gone round and round with this gang problem. My two sons have been approached by people with guns, and it has been reported immediately to the police. We have given a description of the car and everything, and they can't seem to find them. Turn around an hour later, and these same people come back and chase my kids with guns. And, the police come running again. It's funny, the police can't find these kids, but as soon as someone dents a mailbox or something like that, they treat them like a hardened criminal. Who should they be treating like hardened criminals? They know who they are. They have been named many times. They turn their heads the other way whenever they are told something. The stuff they put in the paper, the quotes that say that they are taking care of it, read between the lines. People are calling into the gang task force, and are not getting return calls, but they're not getting any reaction. It's all a bunch of crap.

Clean it up

We have a Walgreens here in Lake Zurich, and they want to build another one. Before they let them build another one, I think they should consider the fact that Walgreens is not picking up its litter. I think they have a lot of nerve coming into this town and trashing it, and not caring about the residents.

Lake Zurich

Job well done!

I wanted to give congratulations to the Grayslake Park District. They did an absolutely wonderful job on the father/daughter dance. My husband and daughter had a great time, and I have been to the mother and son one and it was wonderful. Keep up the good work and thanks for a great activity for the family.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Numbers won't replace your customers

It was a little past the usual lunch rush hour, but the line at the fast-food counter was at least 10 people deep. As I waited in line, I overheard a conversation between an obviously harried manager and the owner of the business.

"What is it?" the owner asked.

The manager worked his calculator and replied, "24 percent."

"You know we can't live with that. Send somebody home. You won't have a job and I won't have a store if we keep this up. We've got to stay below 22 percent. We've been over this before," the owner growled.

The manager frowned. "Okay, but I really need everyone right now."

The owner shook his head and turned away.

The conversation was not loud, nor was it intended for others to hear. However, without even trying I heard every word. I could tell from the tone of this conversation that the focus of this business owner was on managing the numbers, not on taking care of customers.

The owner wanted to hold labor costs below 22 percent of sales. On this day the numbers were coming in at 24 percent and the owner wanted to cut his labor expense. The numbers said there were too many warm bodies standing around.

None of my business

I was traveling in a large city and had stopped to grab a quick bite before going on. This little scene was none of my professional business. However, I did want to take both the owner and manager aside for a little chat.

You see as a customer, I didn't want anyone sent home. I wanted both the owner and manager to pitch in behind the counter and speed up the service. The line was long and moving slowly. I was willing to increase sales in return for food and drink.

Unfortunately, this owner was so obsessed with his numbers that he had forgotten where the numbers came from in the first place. Now don't get me wrong. I believe in knowing your numbers and using information to make good decisions. I believe in management based on facts not feelings.

I also know that for many fast-food franchises controlling labor costs is critical for survival. This is true for most businesses. Typically, labor expense (salaries, wages, benefits, etc.) is the highest category among operating expenses.

No, I'm not saying to ignore your numbers. Rather, I want you to understand the importance of managing priorities. Taking care of customers must come first.

An unwanted by-product

In a recent customer service seminar, I asked the business owners to define the term "customer." I got the usual answers: "people who come to us with needs," "people who buy," "anyone who comes into my store," and "everybody."

I even had a bright owner who defined customers as "the only reason I'm in business." However, the most thought-provoking answer came from an obviously dis-

Six Flags invests effort toward youth, families

There will be much more for families to do when they visit Six Flags Great America this summer.

The theme park is renovating a four acre section with a children's theme. It will be called "Looney Tunes National Park" and Camp Cartoon Network. Children's rides, attractions, shops and restaurants, including a new kiddie roller coaster and small-gauge train.

"The planning cycle starts a year earlier. We broke ground for the project the day after the park closed. Work has been going on all winter. When we decided not to build a roller coaster, (last year) kids and families was next on the list," said Connie Costello, park spokesperson.

"We have known for some time the attractions for younger guests have been pretty limited. We wanted to have attractions where families and the kids could get together. It will be phenomenal with lots of bright, colorful new rides and restaurants," added Costello.

Park officials cleared the first hurdle in a longer range project when the Gurnee zoning board voiced its support for a new roller coaster proposal.

The new roller coaster, scheduled for use in 1999, would be in the Southwest Territory area between the American Eagle and Viper roller coasters. The structure will exceed 125 feet in four areas, the highest 202 feet. Attractions may be built to 125 feet before seeking a village variance.

"This will be a good sized attraction for the park," Jon Wildenberg, director of building and zoning for Gurnee, said.

The matter now goes to Gurnee Village Board for consideration.

Attractions this year in "Looney Tunes National Park" will be: "Looney Tunes Lodge", an interactive "foam factory" featuring thousands of foam balls for shooting, sling-shooting, catapulting, throwing, dropping and blasting.

Yosemite Sam's National Park Tour via Looney Tooter small-gauge choo-choo train.

Waddaview Charter Service, a helicopter ride.

Porky and Petunia's Lady Bugz and Buzzy Beez (lady bug and bee rides).

Pepe LePew's Peak, a massive net climb-slide complex.

Granny's Kitchen, a restaurant featuring warm cookies and hot pretzels.

"Camp Cartoon Network" includes:

"Spacely's Sprocket Rockets", a kiddie roller coaster ride with a 33-foot lift.

Scooby-Doo's Mystery Machine, a rotating vehicle ride.

The theme park opens its 22nd year to the public on April 25.

Costello compared the four-acre area to when Southwest Territories opened an 11-acre venue.

"This is the biggest investment in children's and family-oriented attractions in the history of this park. The creativity, detail-work and themes being used in these new areas will exceed everyone's expectations. We've been wanting to expand our activities for kids for many years and we've decided to do it in a big way," said Six Flags Great America president Jim Wintrobe.

Tanneron Bay, Ingleside features award-winning designs

Home buyers who react with enthusiasm to a dazzling model home may take for granted the expertise necessary to achieve popular designs.

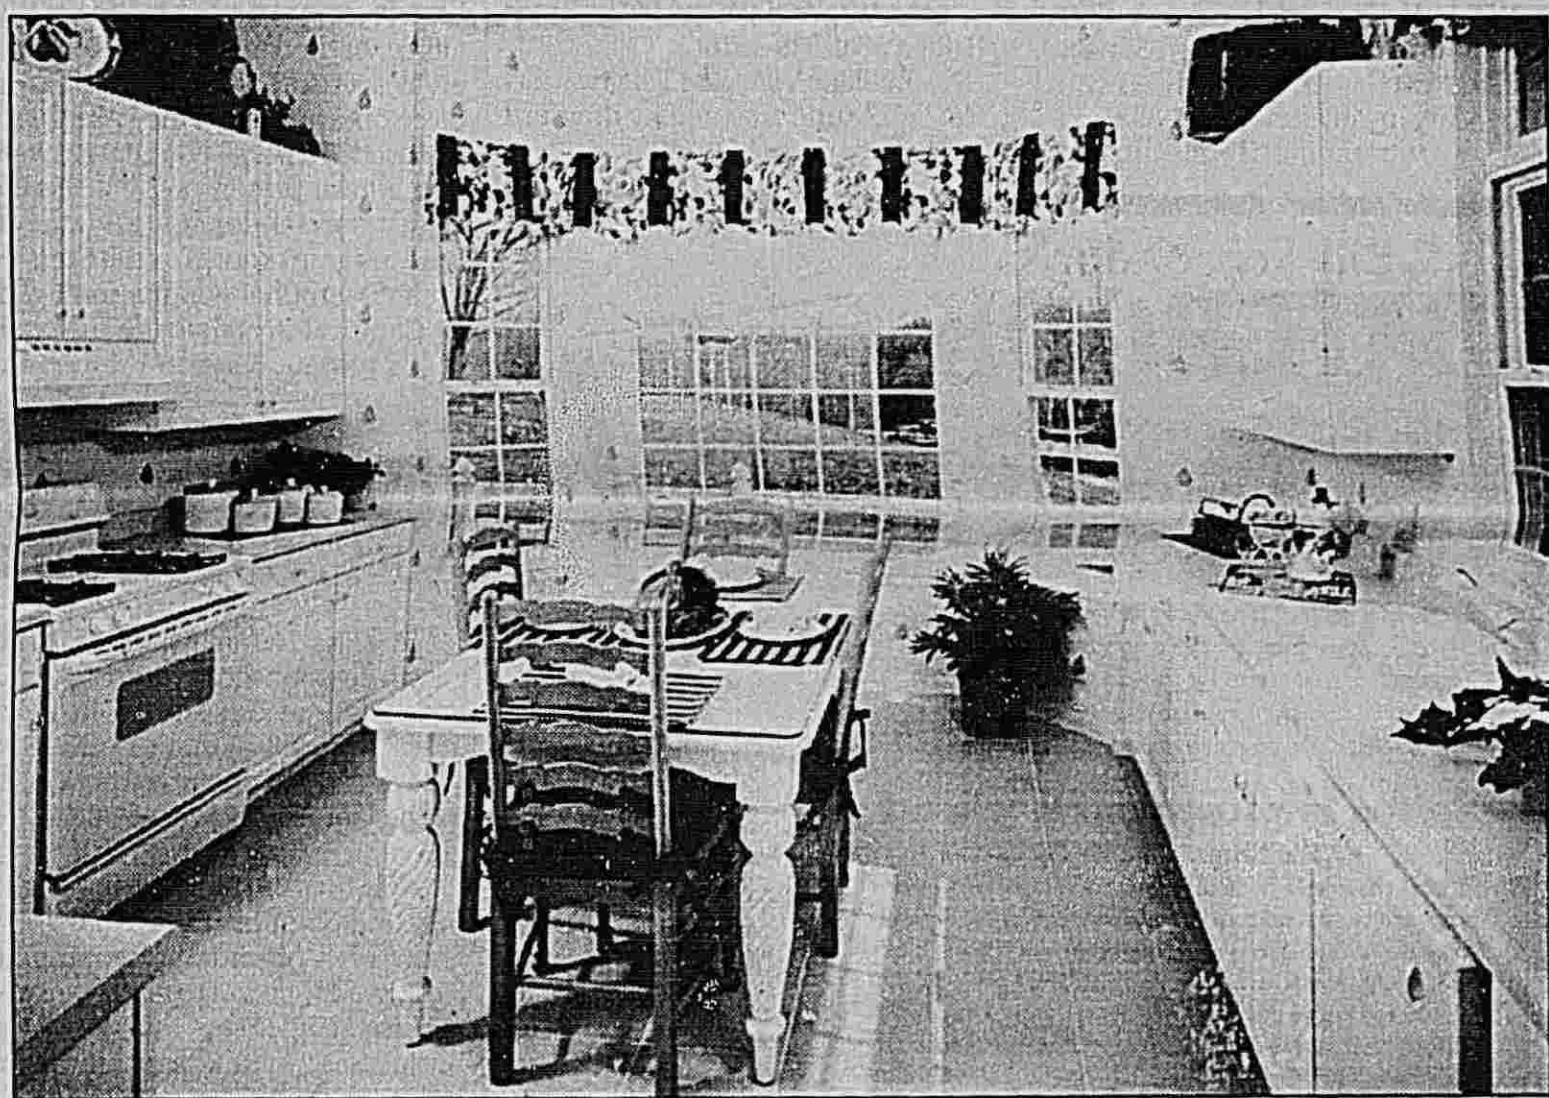

The townhomes at Tanneron Bay on Wooster Lake in Ingleside have won numerous industry awards, and are equally popular with everyone from first-time buyers to empty-nesters seeking maintenance-free living in a resort atmosphere.

Sales are underway in phase two, with prices from $127,990 to $154,490. A selection of homes also remains for sale in phase one, priced from $126,990 to $154,490. Walk-out basements are available in some buildings at an additional cost ranging from $15,950 to $19,950.

The third successful new home community to be developed by Four Oaks Development Corporation, Tanneron Bay will include 86 townhomes on the shores of the 100-acre, spring-fed lake. The homes were designed by James March Goldberg, AIA, architect with the Lake Forest firm of Goldberg Downey Architects, Inc., a residential and commercial architectural firm which also designed Michael Jordan's Highland Park home.

"We have given the townhomes at Tanneron Bay a country feeling in keeping with the atmosphere of the area," Goldberg said. "The exteriors feature fieldstone accents and colors that blend with the natural environment. Windows with muntin bar grills contribute to a friendly traditional look, while the interiors have a light, airy feeling that harmonizes with the outdoor views."

"Buyers today want this feeling of open spaces within their homes and we have achieved this effect in three ways," said Goldberg. "High ceilings expand the vertical space, while open living areas create an exciting, contemporary look as well as convenient traffic flow. Unusually large windows add panoramic views of the outdoors. The overall atmosphere is dramatic yet cozy."

A warm country feeling combined with the best of '90s architecture is offered at Tanneron Bay. The popular townhome community is located on the shores of Wooster Lake.—Submitted photo

Six floor plans are offered at Tanneron Bay, ranging from 1,330 to 1,765 square feet with two or three bedrooms; 1-1/2 to 2-1/2 baths; and attached two-car garages. One of the designs features a first-floor master bedroom. Many of the buildings are available with walk-out basements which add approximately 600 square feet of flexible living space.

"We have tried to take practical features and add visual interest through creative design," Goldberg said. "A good example is in the Britannia, which features a graceful semi-circular staircase."

The Britannia is a two-story home with 1,450 square feet of space; two bedrooms and a loft; 1-1/2 baths; living room with volume ceiling and views of dramatic staircase; dining area; kitchen with breakfast bar; patio; walk-out basement; and two-car attached garage, priced from $135,990 in phase two.

The beautiful natural setting, including 900 feet of shoreline on Wooster Lake, enhances the home designs. Wooster Lake is used for sailing, fishing and paddle boating. In addition to the lake, two ponds, a grove of maple trees as well as aspen and oak forests ensure beautiful views from every townhome.

"Tanneron Bay offers a carefree lifestyle," said Michael Schwartz, president of Four Oaks Development Corporation. "Boaters will find they have no need to drive for hours to use their boats; they can walk along a tree-lined path to the lake and their own boat dock. Boat slips are available to Tanneron Bay residents for purchase."

The Tanneron Bay sales center and professionally decorated model homes are on Hwy. 134, one mile east of Route 12. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and evenings by appointment. Call 740-4700 for more information.

TCI of Northeast Illinois programming prices remain stable in 1998

TCI of Northeast Illinois General Manager Paul Ashley announced recently that TCI cable systems in his region will not raise programming prices in 1998. Chicagoland TCI systems outside will take an average five percent price increase in June.

"While programming costs account for between 65 and 70 percent of our pricing structure," Ashley said, "TCI of Northeast Illinois will not make any price adjustments for programming. At this time, we feel our programming prices are fair and competitive. However, equipment rental prices may increase slightly at some point this year."

One example of escalating programming costs concerns sports programming. In once case, the NFL has more than doubled what it made in its last contracts by signing new television deals worth $17.6 billion.

Since TCI pays fees to cable networks which carry the NFL, this places enormous upward pressure on programming prices.

Ashley said, "We are doing our part to hold down costs. We have taken painful steps on our end—headcount, operating expenses, and re-evaluating our technology."

TCI of Northeast Illinois provides cable television service to customers in the following areas: North Chicago, Waukegan, Park City, Lindenhurst, Lake Villa, Antioch, Fox Lake, Gurnee, Green Oaks, Zion Winthrop Harbor, Wadsworth, Third Lake, Beach Park, Lake Forest, Lake Bluff, Highland, Highland Park, Deerfield, Fort Sheridan, Glenview, Winnetka, Northbrook, Lincolnshire, Kenilworth, Bannockburn, Riverwoods, Lake Eleanor and Unincorporated areas of Lake County.

TAYLOR: Numbers can't replace customers

grunted owner who quipped, "Customers are an unwanted by-product of running a business." He did get a laugh from the other owners.

I don't know whether this owner was serious or not. However, I've seen a few businesses who treated their customers in just that matter. Usually, when customers feel they aren't a high priority, they take their business elsewhere.

If it had been appropriate, I would have encouraged the owner and manager to jump in and help serve customers. Sales would increase, labor costs as a percentage of sales would go down and most importantly, customers would be happier. Keep your customers happy and the numbers may not require as much managing.

How To Survive
The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search:

I have worked for my company for 4 years and for as long as I have been here the corporate handbook states our vacation policy to be 2 weeks paid vacation after the first year. A new employee started in the same department as I (as well as in the same capacity) just over a year ago. This person just came back from a 2 week vacation and has been talking about a trip she is taking with her husband again in November for an additional week. Shouldn't the vacation policy be the same for all employees in the same capacity? Other employees are talking. Should I express my opinion to my supervisor as to the level of fairness? I'm fuming over this! Thank you for your help.
F.D.-Libertyville

Dear F.D.:

Before you do a slow burn, re-think your concern. The key words here are, "paid vacation". There is a strong possibility the employee upon hire may have made arrangements with management prior to the acceptance of the position for that particular week off. In which case I want you to further keep in mind that the possibility is very strong that this November trip is going without pay. Obviously this person is unaware that she is causing co-workers to talk about this by discussing this matter openly. Should you express your opinion to your supervisor? If you have a company handbook and the policy is stated clearly...let it be.

Dear Search:

I have been with the same company for the past 15 years and am about to design a resume as I have been seriously considering moving on. I have received many promotions over the years and would like to know if it is necessary for me to list the company name and dates of employment next to every new title I received. I have received 7 new positions with them over this period of time. Someone told me that I should just list the company name and dates of employment as 1978-present and then just list from start to current, my title and duties. Do you feel that this is appropriate? Thanks for your column, it is very informative.
J.L. - Gurnee

Dear J.L.:

I agree. To list the company name over and over may appear as though you are in need of things to fill up the page with. At a glance it may make you look as if you have had several employers. When done with the format suggested to you, you should have a clean outstanding resume, easy to read and at a glance making it obvious that you have been a dedicated employee of 15 years. Good Luck!

sional and President of Superior Personnel in

VINNIE

This purebred, loving and gentle Bassett Hound is only two years old.

She was given up, simply because the first dog of the household was old and simply would not accept Vinnie's presence...in fact gave her a very rough time!

Vinnie has eyes that would melt the polar ice cap! She is just one of the sweetest pooches we've encountered and is a perfect family pet!

For adoption information on VINNIE, other quality AAF pets or becoming a needed and very welcome volunteer.

Want a great dog - come and see Maggie. She'll steal away your heart!

ALL DOGS BENEFIT FROM BASIC HOUSEBREAKING & OBEDIENCE TRAINING WHICH HELPS BOND DOG TO OWNER. CRATING IS RECOMMENDED THE FIRST YEAR, WHEN THE OWNER IS AWAY IF NEEDED.

Cash $55 adoption donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow up care and much more.

QUESTION: When I lay in bed to watch TV it never fails that my cat comes and kneads its paws into my chest. This makes me crazy, why is he doing this?

ANSWER: Although this may be an annoying habit of your cats, it is actually a sign of contentment. Your cat obviously feels very comfortable and relaxed living with you. If you have ever seen a mother cat nursing her kittens you'll also notice that kittens knead while feeding.

QUESTION: When my wife buys accessories for my cat such as beds, collars and bowls, she always tries to pick out colors that the cat may like. Can my cat really tell what color these items are? And if so could she really have a preference?

ANSWER: It has been found that cats have only limited color vision capabilities. It probably is not likely that your cat would have a color preference for these items. Your wife may enjoy picking specific items for your cat, and obviously loves it. Since your cat doesn't mind, let your wife enjoy her gift giving.

This youngster is sure to soften the hardest heart... with wonderful displays of affection. This kitten is a love!

Nearly finished with necessary inoculations, "OZZIE" can soon join the rest of the loving residents in cageless living at the award winning ASSISI ANIMAL FOUNDATION.

Quality pets for quality homes from the AAF! Please call us for adoption information, on becoming a member of this active organization or becoming a valued volunteer if you can spare as little as an hour or two any morning of the week. You'll be welcome among other animal lovers in cheerful, "no-kill" surroundings.
